Win-The-Peace Presidential Campaign Winding Up Today

Dewey Is Expected To Double Truman On Electoral Vote

By JACK BELL

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey winds up his second presidential campaign tonight, apparently confident he will more than double President Truman's electoral vote next Tuesday.

The Republican nominee sums up his "unity" program in a Madison Square Garden speech, to be broadcast from 9:30 to 10 p. m., (EST) over the National Broadcasting Company network.

It was in the same setting in 1944 that Dewey said an unwilling—if temporary—goodbye to his presidential hopes.

But the 15,000-mile, 170-speech trail that leads to the Garden tonight turns toward the White House next week—in the opinion of Dewey, his lieutenants and political observers.

The New York governor will go on the air for five minutes Monday night, but only to urge a heavy vote turnout.

Since he started active campaigning Sept. 20, Dewey has been seen by and has talked to possibly one-tenth of the 50,000,000 voters who may go to the polls next Tuesday.

His drive has been confined to 25 of the 48 states and concentrated, where possible, in areas where there are critical senate races.

Dewey's lieutenants now contend the Republicans will hold the 51 to 45 margin they have over the Democrats in the Senate. They consider the House safe and thus say they feel sure of a Republican Congress.

Army Streamlined For War Or Peace

Vice Chief Of Staff To Assist Gen. Bradley

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Army is setting out to streamline its complicated organization so it can be ready for keeping the peace or fighting a war if one comes.

In ordering the top-level reshuffling yesterday, Army Secretary Royall said its aim is to put the Army on a "peace-or-war functional footing," starting November 15.

Since 1946, the Army's directorate has slipped back toward a structure resembling the pre-war setup. Among other things, the chief of staff—who in the war kept his desk clear of details not directly concerning the overall command of the Army—has become charged with a lot of additional responsibilities.

Under the reorginzation, subordinates will handle all details covering branches of the Army. That means the chief, at present Gen. Omar Bradley, won't have to spend his day signing relatively unimportant letters and orders and answering the telephone.

Toward this end, a new "vice chief of staff" will be named. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, deputy chief, will take over the new post. Royall said the vice chief will be an "alter ego" for the chief, to run the show when the boss is away on inspection trips at home or abroad.

KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

Kalamazoo, (AP)—Harry Martin, 51, of Scotts, was electrocuted Friday at the plant of Time, Inc., police said, when he fell against a live wire. Martin was working atop a derrick.

Williams Willing CIO Puppet, Sigler Tells Detroiters

(By The Associated Press)

The action was swift on several fronts in Michigan politics today.

On the last weekend prior to Tuesday's election:

1. Governor Sigler and G. Mennen Williams were still slugging it out.

2. Republican investigators packed up evidence which they hint may lead to department of justice action on Democratic campaign fund collection.

3. The Democrats, caught short, were hurrying to file their presidential electoral list in order to preserve President Truman's name for Michigan's ballot.

Sigler carried on his Detroit campaigning after flailing at Williams as a "willing puppet" of the CIO.

The governor further declared that Michigan would not tolerate a "Charlie McCarthy sitting on the knee either of labor or management at Lansing."

His speech, before a congressional district group Friday, was akin to his talk earlier in the day at Grand Rapids when he said Williams was under the control of CIO-PAC.

Sigler said CIO "brassnats" had taken over the Democratic party, ousting old party leaders "who have stood by Democratic principles all these years."

Williams, in turn, repeated his charge that Sigler's Republican administration had extended favoritism in sales tax collections, permitting a fraud on the people.

"Flagrant dishonesty in the payment of the sales tax is now an established fact," the Democrat said.

He said 98 per cent of Michigan's small businesses paid their tax share "but to the chosen few has gone the right of kick-back, the right to defraud the state.

Williams blamed the Republicans in general for high living costs after they "sabotaged the OPA."

President Of Peru Departs For Exile

Revolt Leader Promises To Hold Elections

Lima, Peru, Oct. 30 (AP)—Jose Luis Bustamante, deposed as president of Peru by the army, left for exile in Chile early today.

Former Interior Minister Gen. Manuel Odria, leader of the successful three-day revot, promised to hold democratic elections as soon as possible in a broadcast from Arequipa, where the uprising broke out.

Brig. Zenon Noriega, commander of the second army division, was reported holding the reins of government temporarily. Odria is expected in Lima today to appoint a junta and start a provisional government.

Lima newspapers last night carried statements from Odria denouncing Bustamante. He charged Bustamante had given the left-wing, outlawed Apra party—which he characterized as "an international sect"—complete freedom to carry out "plans to prosletize the lower army ranks, inciting them to murder their officers and chiefs."

The overthrow of Bustamante climaxed his long fight to appease insurgent parties of the left and right. His regime—three years and three months old—witnessed the appearance of the left wing Apra party in Peru's political arena. At first the Apra was Bustamante's ally. Later it became his bitterest opponent. It was accused of leading the unsuccessful revolt Oct. 3 at Callao, Lima's port.

Decatur Bartenders To Be Baby Sitters Over Election Day

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 30 (AP)—About 100 Decatur union bartenders will be available for baby sitting jobs next Tuesday, election day.

Mothers wanting a sitter so they can go to the polls can get a bartender as baby sitter at Local 23, Bartenders, Hotel and Restaurant Employes Union.

R. K. Young, union business agent, said the bartenders agreed to offer their services because they will be idle. By state law saloons are closed in Illinois during the time the polls are open on election day.

Young said the union has not decided on wages for the bartenders. But they won't be much, he said.

Past Grand Master Of Masons, Dr. Lyons Dies At Jackson

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 30 (AP)—Dr. J. Kenneth Lyons, 46, dentist, past grand master of Michigan Masons, died at his home here today following a heart attack.

Born in Jackson, he was educated in the Jackson public schools and graduated from the University of Michigan with the degree of DDS in 1924.

Dr. Lyons was named grand marshal of Michigan Masons in 1944, five years after he was elected worshipful grand marshal. He received the Scottish Rite degrees in Detroit in 1944 and took the 33rd degree in Masonry in 1947. He was a past president of the local Lions club.

Survivors include his wife and two brothers, Dr. Don Lyons of Jackson and Dr. James Lyons, Marquette, both dentists.

Collision In Fog Kills Two Women

Reed City, Mich., Oct. 30 (AP)—Two women were killed today when their car crashed into the rear of a Northland Dairy Co. truck in a heavy fog on US-10, six miles east of Sears.

They were identified as Mrs. Hazel Shaffner, 49, Detroit, and Mrs. Ida Dodwell, 51, Idlewild.

State Police said Gayes R. Brown, 71, Mrs. Shaffner's father was driving the car.

He suffered head cuts and bruises.

Heart Attack Takes Chippewa Sheriff On Eve of Election

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 30 (AP)—Chippewa County Sheriff Jack Armstrong died today, Oct. 30, 1948, at 3 a. m. at a Sault Ste. Marie hospital, of a heart attack.

He had been ill since Tuesday.

Armstrong was completing his first term as county sheriff and was a candidate for re-election, unopposed, on the Republican ticket in next Tuesday's voting.

Halls Of UN Emptied For U. S. Election

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

Paris, Oct. 30 (AP)—The tumult of the American election reverberated in the nearly-empty meeting halls of the United Nations today as the world body prepared for an extra-long weekend holiday.

Discussion of nearly all major issues came to a halt as the delegates, including Americans, waited to see who will be the next president of the United States and what kind of Congress the U. S. will have.

The Security Council voted with two abstentions to shunt the touchy Palestine question into a subcommittee until sometime after next Tuesday. The Soviet Union and the Soviet Ukraine abstained from the voting.

By a fortunate circumstance the U. N. virtually was forced to call a holiday for Monday just at a time when discretion called for one. Monday, All Saints day, is a national holiday in France and the U. N. is taking the day off too. The following day is election day in the United States.

Top-ranking American diplomats scattered for the weekend. Secretary of State Marshall went to London on what U. S. Embassy spokesmen in London said was a "purely personal and private visit."

John Foster Dulles, member of the U. S. delegation and foreign affairs adviser to GOP presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey went to Scandinavia. Dr. Philip Jessup, U. S. deputy in the Security Council, left on a visit to Berlin and Frankfurt.

Strikers Returning In French Coal Pits

Troops Give Protection, Drive Off Pickets

By ROBERT C. WILSON

Paris, Oct. 30 (AP)—French miners went back to work in increasing numbers under police and military protection today as government forces drove pickets from 20 more struck pits.

No figures were available as to how many miners actually are back on the job, but non-Communist union leaders have ordered all their followers to return to work. The non-Communists claim 150,000 of France's 335,000 miners.

Communist union leaders gave no verbal sign of weakening as the nationwide strike went into its 26th day, but their followers no longer are resisting police and troops who ousted pickets from the pits.

This lack of organized resistance has boosted government hopes that the costly tieup is nearing an end.

National Defense Minister Paul Ramadier said the situation may be so well in hand next week that troops can be withdrawn from the coal fields.

On the other hand, the Communists had about 30 coal ships tied up in French ports, through a dockers' strike. Ramadier said he though this tieup would be settled shortly.

Fighting Blazes Up Again In Holy Land As Israeli Attack

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 30 (AP)—Heavy fighting blazed on the northern Holy Land front throughout the night, an Israeli army spokesman announced today.

The spokesman said Jewish forces attacked irregulars of Fawzi Al Kaukji's so-called Arab army of liberation, in attempts to recapture heights held for a week by Kaukji's forces.

U. N. spokesmen in Haifa said the Israeli attack was launched at dawn yesterday, after aerial preparation.

The attack apparently was launched, U. N. observers said, in retailiation against Arab seizure of positions east of the truce line recently.

Headon Collision Near Newbury, Vt. Kills 3 Trainmen

Newbury, Vt., Oct. 30 (AP)—A headon collision of two trains in a heavy fog early today killed two engineers and a fireman, and injured six other men.

The accident occurred in an isolated area where trains operate on a single track with automatic block signals.

Both were Boston and Maine railroad trains. A railroad spokesman was unable to explain immediately how the trains collided despite the automatic signals.

The trains were at the halfway point in their opposite runs between Boston and Montreal.

Final Decision Left To Over 50 Million Voters Next Tuesday

Political Traditions Favor Republicans

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—A win-the-peace presidential campaign comes to a roaring close in the home states of the major candidates tonight.

The hour of decision for upwards of 50,000,000 voters comes Tuesday at the ballot box. Briefly, their choice will be the man they think can do a better job at:

1. Bringing stability to a world weary of three years of shaky peace.

2. Holding inflation in check at home.

The Republican nominee, 46-year-old Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, tonight closes a campaign in Madison Square Garden that has taken him into every section of the country except the south.

In his second try for the presidency he has stressed a plea for unity. He says only a change in the administration at Washington can bring about government "competence" in domestic affairs and an unwavering drive for peace in foreign relations.

President Harry S. Truman, 64-year-old Democratic candidate, goes to St. Louis in his home state of Missouri for his final major speech tonight. His campaign has embraced all regions, the south included.

Congress Attacked

Trying for his first election to the White House in his own right, Mr. Truman has confined his campaign to an almost daily attack on what he calls the "do-nothing" 80th Congress for not enacting his domestic program. He has accused Dewey of dodging the issues.

The other main presidential candidates, Henry A. Wallace, Progressive, and Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, States' Rights, also have campaigned extensively. But Thurmond has limited his swing largely to the south where he has concentrated his fire against the President's civil rights program.

Besides those tickets, four other parties have candidates for the White House. Three more—Greenback, vegetarian and Christian national cruside—named candidates, but are not on any state ballot.

The voters also will elect 33 senators and as many governors—counting a GOP senator and governor elected in Maine September 13—and 435 House members—including three Maine Republicans already chosen.

Negotiations In Bus Strikes Deadlocked

Merchants At Muskegon See Sales Slump

Flint was the only one of three Michigan cities hit by bus strikes in which negotiations continued today. A stalemate was reported in Muskegon and in Lansing as both sides seemed to be marking time until after the Tuesday election.

Hopes for an early return to normal service at Lansing faded Friday when Inter-City Coach Line President James A. Gibb announced the company's refusal to arbitrate the wage dispute.

The union had agreed to arbitration and said the drivers would be urged to return to work today if the company agreed.

However, Gibb held that the dspute might still be settled by negotiation so was not ready for arbitration.

Officials of the coach line contend they cannot make a decision on the AFL union wage demands until Lansing voters decide whether the bus fare will be raised from five to 10 cents.

Negotiations were resumed in Flint in an effort to settle the 43-day old walkout. Talks had been in recess for two days.

Muskegon merchants continued to complain of "substantial" slumps in sales as a three-man panel studying the strike broke off sessions. The panel members declared both the People's Transportation Corp. and union leaders refused to budge from their positions.

GRANDMA HELPS CHEST

Detroit, (AP)—A painting by the famed Grandma Moses honoring the community chest red feather will be on display at a department store through Tuesday. The picture shows a children's home set in rolling country with youngsters playing in the foreground under a flag pole bearing the red feather banner. The 88-year-old artist began painting ten years ago and has gained fame as a primitive.

PROMOTED —Tom Masterson of Gladstone, who has been the AP correspondent at Shanghai, China, the past three years, has been promoted to head of the Southeast Asia bureau of the Associated Press at Singapore. In his new position, he will be responsible for the coverage of news in the Malayas, Indo-China, Siam, Burma and Netherlands East Indies. A graduate of the Gladstone high school and Notre Dame university, Masterson began newspaper work at Plymouth, Wis., in 1936, and worked for the Fond du Lac Commonwealth-Reporter and Appleton Post Crescent before joining the AP at Detroit. He is the son of Mrs. William Masterson of Gladstone and a brother of Helen Masterson, secretary in the University of Michigan Extension Service office in Escanaba.

Violation Of Law Seen In Michigan Democratic Kitty

Detroit, Oct. 30. (AP)—Republicans claimed evidence today of federal law violations in Democratic campaign fund solicitations and hinted at possible intervention by the department of justice.

The claim was based on testimony from 28 Michigan postal officials who told a congressional hearing they had been pressed for contributions to the state Democratic campaign fund.

Democrats branded the investigation "a Republican smear campaign."

A House of Representatives subcommittee on campaign expenditures spent two days here taking testimony. The hearings ended yesterday.

Rep. Fellows (R-Me.), subcommittee chairman, said:

"We shall turn our evidence over to Congress at the next session. In my opinion, we have ample evidence supporting the need for further legislation to cover this."

Prosecution Possible

Fellows said it was probable that Congress wouud hand over the information to the department of justice for further investigation and possible prosecution.

Postmaster witnesses testified they were asked for campaign contributions by a telephone caller identifying himself as John R. Franco, state Democratic chairman.

Franco has admitted the solicitations but denied he was violating the law. He was not called as a hearing witness.

Mrs. Violet Patterson, party vice chairman, gave out a press statement saying the pre-election adjournment of the hearing and the failure to call Franco was "ample evidence" of a "Republican smear campaign."

Solicited By Phone

The bulk of testimony dealt with alleged phone calls to postmasters from the person identifying himself as Franco. Witnesses said the caller asked for donations of sums varying with the size of their salaries.

Some said they contributed gifts ranging from $2 to $200; others said they refused.

Several testified that the phone solicitor mentioned appointments and job-holding in the conversations.

Federal laws prohibit promises or threats in connection with requests for political donations from government employes.

A number of witnesses testified they had received letters signed by Franco at their post offices. A few said phone calls were received in post offices.

Federal laws prohibit solicitation of political funds on government property.

However, committee members admitted it was up to the courts to decide whether the alleged phone calls and letters actually were "solicitation" as covered by the laws.

Pay Raises Mentioned

Witnesses made the following allegations in testimony:

1—That they were told a postmasters convention had voted that postmasters should give 2 per cent of annual salaries to the Democratic party in Michigan.

2—That pay increases granted last summer were called to their attention.

3—That phone calls were fol-

Mukden Reported Captured By Reds

By HAROLD K. MILKS

Nanking, Oct. 30 (AP)—Communist troops swooped on Mukden today and either wrested that greatest Manchurian city from the Chinese government or were prepared to do so at their leisure.

Usually reliable sources said the Reds had won complete control of the city. Other equally believable sources late tonight said they had closely ringed the city but had not fully completed its occupation.

These last accounts said the last group of government officials had fled at 3 p. m. in automobiles, in a desperate effort to break through the Communist circle.

They said no authority whatever remained in Mukden and the entire city was in "the greatest confusion."

Foreigners left in Mukden included U. S. Consul General Angus Ward and his wife, consulate secretary Mary Eleanor Raden of Dysart, Iowa; administrative officer Ralph Rehberg of Rochester N. Y.; and some other members of the American and other foreign consular staffs.

The American consulate was reported well supplied with food under guard within its compound.

Sources were considered it unlikely that many of the 150,000 Nationalist troops managed to escape Red forces who held the corridor to Chinhsien, 125 miles south of Mukden.

Large forces on both sides have been engaged in a see-saw battle for the past 72 hours in the Mukden area. More than 400,000 men were reported committed to battle.

Russians Quibble, Keep Jap Prisoners

Delays Deliberate, Says MacArthur's Office

By DUANE HENNESSY

Tokyo, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters today accused the Russians of quibbling over repatriation expenses possibly to hold thousands of Japanese prisoners of war in servitude.

The accusation was made in a statement issued by a spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters. The statement was in reply to a Tass news agency dispatch blaming MacArthur for failure to answer a Russian inquiry into plans for paying the Russians for shipping the captured Japanese home.

The MacArthur headquarters statement said the Japanese government had paid the Russians for repatriation of some 856,124 returned nationals in keeping with the present agreement.

The Allied commander's headquarters reiterated a charge that the Russians have shorted repatriation ships as much as 500 men for 18 months and have given all indications of again suspending repatriation during the coming winter.

Tass news agency said the Japanese government was responsible for all repatriation bills for war prisoners and civilians. The MacArthur spokesman emphasized this same agreement stipulated that the Soviets repatriate 50,000 prisoners monthly. They have failed for 18 months to meet this quota, he said.

MacArthur estimates 471,071 Japanese still are in Russian hands.

Campaign Buttons Jam Parking Meters

Bend, Ore., Oct. 30. (AP)—Nearly half of Bend's parking meters were out of commission yesterday, police reported: "It's politics."

It was, too. High school students were taking campaign buttons and removing the pin clasps. Then they stamped the buttons flat and slipped them into the meters. They worked in some, but jammed others.

Chase Osborn Some Better In Hospital

Albany, Ga., Oct. 30 (AP)—Chase S. Osborn, former Michigan governor, was reported in fair condition today in an Albany hospital.

The 88-year-old Osborn was carried to the hospital early this week suffering from what was described as a serious lung congestion. Thursday night he suffered a heart attack.

Osborn, whose condition had been listed as critical, was reported "fair, and perhaps improved" by a hospital attendant today.

He was carried to the hospital from his home at "Possum Poke" in Poulan county, Ga., where he spends nine months of the year. His adopted daughter, Stellanova Osborn, is at his bedside.

Indonesia Gets New Emergency Regime

The Hague, The Netherlands, Oct. 30 (AP)—Queen Juliana is expected to sign an emergency bill today authorizing formation of an Indonesian interim government.

The first chamber (upper house) of the Dutch parliament parliament passed the bill 38 to 12 yesterday. The lower house passed the measure earlier this week.

Meanwhile former Premier Louis J. M. Beel has been named to succeed retiring Dutch Indies Governor-general Hubertus J. Van Mook. Beel will be royal commissioner for Indonesia, a new title. He leaves for Batavia tonight.

Fire Razes Chicago Apartment, 1 Dead; 25 Persons Rescued

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—At least one person was killed and eight others reported injured today in a fire that razed a four-story brick apartment building on the south side.

Boy, 4, Fatherless In Cleaver Slaying

Mother Held In Killing At Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP)—Grandparents of four-year-old Vincent Ferreri, left fatherless in a gun and meat cleaver slaying, offered him a home and loving care today.

And his mother, Mrs. Betty Ferreri, 26, held in connection with the Tuesday night killing of her husband, Jerome, 36, indicated she would turn the lad over to her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ferreri of New Brunswick, N. J.

"I'll do it for his own good," Betty told newsmen. "I'll have to work. I wouldn't be able to take care of him properly. He'd have to be among outsiders part of the time. I know he'll receive loving care from them."

The grandfather pleaded tearfully for his namesake grandson when the elder Ferreris confronted Betty yesterday in the presence of reporters and detectives at the $35,000 home where Jerome Ferreri was slain.

Detectives William Breannan and G. H. Wiseman said Betty reenacted the killing at the home. She and a roomer, Allan Adron, 51, booked on suspicion of murder, have told investigators Adron shot Jerome Ferreri while he was beating Betty, then Betty hit her husband with a meat cleaver. Formal charges were expected to filed after an inquest Monday.

Delta County Offices, Now Democratic, At Stake In Election

Republicans Hope To End 16-Year Minority Role

Will Delta county offices continue Democratic for another two years? Or will Republican candidates get a foot in the door of some offices, or walk right into all of them?

Those questions will be answered by voters of the county when they go to the polls in the general election of Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Back in 1932 in the well-remembered year of the big Democratic landslide all Delta county offices were won by the Democrats with one exception, the office of county clerk. In 1934 a Democrat was elected to that office and no elected Republican has since graced the court house by his presence.

Both Confident

In the intervening years, however, the Republicans have made minor gains in Delta. Two years ago Republican candidates for U. S. Senator and 11th district congressman won majorities in Delta over their Democratic opponents, and a Republican was declared elected to represent the county in the state legislature following a recount by a legislative committee.

Today both the Republicans and the Democrats in Delta county have expressed themselves as confident of victory in Tuesday's election.

Local Republicans are reported relying upon national trends and the fact that Michigan has been in the Republican fold for several years. The Democrats point to 16 years of dominance in Delta county politics, declare that Michigan hangs in the balance again this year and even anticipate the reelection of a Democratic president.

Quiet Campaign

The campaign in Delta county has been a quite one, considering that an important presidential election battle is under way. There have been few big rallies and both parties and their candidates have been quietly engaged in soliciting votes.

Polls will open at 7 a. m. Tuesday and will close at 8 p. m.

Anticipating a record-breaking vote, and because of the several ballots on public questions to be presented the voters, additional election board personnel will be on duty in Escanaba and Gladstone.

The ballots to be received by the voters are as follows:

Presidential — Republican, Thomas E. Dewey for president, Earl Warren for vice president. Democratic, Harry S. Truman for president, Alben W. Barkley for vice president. There are four other parties: Prohibition, Socialist Labor, Socialist Workers, Progressive, and Socialist.

State, County Ballots

State, congressional, legislative, county:

Republican ticket—Kim Sigler for governor, Eugene C. Keyes for lieutenant governor, Frederick M. Alger for secretary of state, Stuart B. White for attorney general, D. Hale Brake for state treasurer, Murl K. Aten for auditor general, Homer Ferguson for U. S. Senator, Charles E. Potter for representative in congress, William A. Ellsworth for state senator, Roy. A. Jensen for Delta representative, Alger W. Strom for prosecuting attorney, Harold O. Finman for sheriff, Elmer St. Martin for county clerk and register of deeds, Charles W. Magnuson for county treasurer, C. Arthur Anderson for coroner.

Democratic ticket—G. Mennen Williams for governor, John W. Connolly for lieutenant governor, Noel P. Fox for secretary of state, Stephen J. Roth for attorney general, John J. Kozaren for state treasurer, Margaret Price for auditor general, Frank E. Hook for U. S. Senator, Violet LaVergne Patterson for representative in congress, Einar Eugene Erlandsen for Delta representative in the legislature, J. Clyde McGonagle for prosecutor, William E. Miron for sheriff, J. Theodore Ohlen for county clerk and register of deeds, Robert C. Pryal for county treasurer, Otto S. Hult and Kevill Murphy for coroner.

There are four other tickets, as listed under the presidential ballot above. None have candidates for county offices.

Other Public Questions

Six public questions, proposed amendments to the state constitution, will be placed before the voters for a "yes" or "no" vote. In addition, on a separate ballot, is a proposal to call a convention of delegates to study revision of the state constitution.

There will be a non-partisan judicial ballot for the purpose of electing a Delta county probate judge. The name of William Miller, incumbent, the only nominee, appears on the ballot. The names of other candidates may be written in. Also on the judicial ballot are spaces for writing in the names of candidates to be elected to the office of circuit court commissioner.

Voters will also receive a "time question ballot on which they are asked to express their preference for Eastern Standard Time the year around, or Eastern Standard Time during the summer months and Central Standard Time in the winter months.

PLAN PAVEMENT AT ST. IGNACE

US-2 Widening Bids Will Be Opened Nov. 9

The state highway department's proposal to widen and resurface Highway US-2 through the city of St. Ignace is expected to be accomplished within the ensuing year, it is announced by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Bids for the project will be opened in Escanaba by the U. P. branch office of the highway department at 11 a. m. Tuesday Nov. 9.

Highway US-2 is the main street of St. Ignace and is the motorists' approach to the state ferry docks. Because of the increasing volume of traffic across the Straits of Mackinac the street is congested with traffic most of the summer and at rush periods on weekends, holidays and during the deer hunting season.

The project on which bids are being received by the state includes:

1.645 miles of concrete pavement widening and bituminous concrete resurface course in the city. The work will consist of concrete widening to a variable width and of eight inch uniform thickness; and bituminous resurfacing to widths varying from 36 to 53 feet.

The project is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 1, 1949.

Miss Caroline Austin, vision consultant of the Michigan Department of Health, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Escanaba Lions club Monday evening at the Sherman Hotel. The occasion is the club's observance of National Better Sight week.

The program is in charge of the sight and blind committee of the club, Dr. M. H. Garrard, chairman; Art Goulais, Henry Ehnerd and John Kallman.

Connecticut has been known since the Revolutionary War as "the Arsenal of the Nation," because of its firearms manufacture.

Government Classes At EHS to Conduct Elections Monday

Students of government classes in Escanaba Senior High school will conduct school elections for national, state and local offices at the school Monday. Miss Nina Ley, instructor, is in charge.

Approximately 100 government students will assist in the election, voting in which will be done in the regular voting booths located at the school. Over 600 students will cast ballots.

The purpose of the election is to acquaint students with the mechanics of voting. No emphasis has been placed on choice of candidates, and no campaigning has been done in the school.

Last Thursday a group of students attended the election school held in the courthouse, to learn the methods of conducting elections. Since students have visited classrooms and explained the proper method of marking ballots, and the purpose of the six ballots to be voted on in this election.

Eighteen seniors will serve on three sets of election boards. Don Aronson is chairman of the election boards.

Stalin Charges War-Mongering

PREMIER STALIN charged Thursday that the United States and Great Britain twice have nullified agreements made by their representatives in negotiations with Russia for settlement of the Berlin dispute. The charge was promptly denied by the western powers.

The contention of Stalin that the western powers are seeking a new war just does not make sense. The settlement of the Berlin situation assuredly is one of the major objectives of the western powers. The cost of supplying the German people within the American, British and French zone of Berlin by air shipments is tremendous and even at best, we cannot hope to maintain standards of transportation that can do much more than feed the people of Berlin and keep them from freezing.

Stalin alleged that the United States and Britain backed out of the agreement made on August 30. The truth is that the Aug. 30 agreement was nullified by Marshall Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Berlin, who insisted upon control of the air lift as well as control of other mediums of transportation to and from Berlin. In other words, the Russian commander actually wanted to tighten his stranglehold on Berlin, rather than relieve the constriction that already exists.

As for the agreement in Paris that Stalin claims was effected in September, the western powers simply state that there just was no such agreement. The public then must decide who is telling the truth, Stalin or the American delegates. It is hard to imagine any sensible Americans accepting Stalin's explanation in view of the Russian dictator's atrocious record of dishonesty, double-dealings and disregard for his own promises.

Supply And Demand

THE law of supply and demand seldom gets abused as roundly as the law of Taft and Hartley. Yet there are many economists who view it skeptically. Some of them merely say that it doesn't always operate as advertised. Others insist that it's a very inaccurate instrument for figuring markets and prices, and that it is depended on too much at the expense of more accurate gauges.

Being strictly amateur, we shan't attempt to argue with the professional economists. But we would like to cite a couple of examples which seem to indicate that the law of s. and d. remains in business at the old stand.

The latest of the annual Collier's magazine surveys of the automobile and tire market has some welcome news on the tire industry. It shows that the production of passenger car tires caught up with the demand early this summer, although there was an immediate need of 33,000,000 replacement tires two years ago, and 13,500,000 last year. What's more, the price of tires today is within 10 per cent of what it was before the war.

As for automobiles, the survey tells a story that is painfully familiar—a backlog of some 8,000,000 car orders, which is about equal to two years' production, and prices up around 100 per cent from prewar.

This contrasting picture can be explained easily, and we think accurately, by supply and demand. The tire industry increased its production 30 per cent in the war years, and used the new capacity to turn out tires. When the war ended it was still there to help satisfy a pent-up civilion need. In two years the abnormal demand was satisfied and prices were down.

In the auto industry there was less wartime expansion, and most of this was for the production of other items than automobiles. Peace brought a big reconversion problem. In addition there was a shortage of steel.

In the men's clothing field, according to S. Burton Heath of NEA Service, high prices of other things have helped bring down the price of men's suits. The cost of buying food, clothing the ladies of the house in the New Look, and so on, caused a lot of heads of families to postpone replenishing their own wardrobes, says Mr. Heath in a recent article.

As a result many retailers' inventories have been piling up on the racks since June. Mr. Heath quotes lower prices in many articles of haberdashery, and calls attention to a straight price cut of 20 per cent on men's suits by one clothing chain. These, he says, are probably clearance sales rather than real price slashes. But they are still a result of supply exceeding demand.

Polio Fight Continues

THE state health department has indicated that the outbreak of infantile paralysis cases in the Upper Peninsula, while unexpected at this late season, is not of alarming proportions. The incidence of infantile paralysis in many parts of the country rose sharply during the summer and the Upper Peninsula was fortunate to escape an epidemic. Approximately two-thirds of the polio cases reported for the entire year, however, came in October, a surprising development.

National records indicated that 1948 will show the second worst polio experience in the nation's history. To date about 22,000 cases have been reported, compared with 25,000 cases in the epidemic year of 1946. The U. S. Public Health Service believes, however, that when all of the figures are in the current year's total will surpass the 1946 record and rank second only to 1916 in cases recorded.

Improved reporting facilities, of course, constitute some of the increase in the number of cases reported. The public is more conscious of the disease with the result that many non-paralytic cases are being reported today, which was not so true in years past. Fortunately, most of the cases reported in the Upper Peninsula this season have been mild in character.

The fight against polio continues with new vigor and new determination as science seeks more and more knowledge about this dreaded disease and seeks ways to control it.

Be Sure To Vote

IT IS of utmost importance that an exceptionally heavy vote results in next Tuesday's national election. Every qualified elector should resolve to go to the polls and cast his ballot.

A heavy vote is important first because democratic government is built upon the will of the people and the only sure way of expressing that will is through the ballot box.

A heavy vote is important in this election because of the international crisis. Enemies of democracy in foreign lands are watching the American election for signs of decadence. A comparatively light vote would provide them with more grist for their vicious propaganda mill.

Persons who lack transportation to the polls can secure a ride from friends or neighbors or by calling political headquarters of either of the major parties.

In any case, be sure to vote on election day. Remember if you don't vote, you have no right to criticize.

PROPOSAL NO. 3
(Soo Evening News)

Seriously or humorously, it's been said that one of the reasons for the dearth of candidates in Chippewa county is pay. The average man can earn more in a factory.

That's true of the state, too. The present salaries of $7,500 for the governor, attorney general and secretary of state are entirely unrealistic. A poor man just could not live on that, and after all he is as entitled to be a state official as anyone else, and he should not be obliged to look for extra revenue elsewhere.

Actually, of course, Governor Sigler receives but $5,000 as governor. The other $2,500 comes from service on the Administrative Board. He is allowed an extra $12,500 "as a private grant for private purposes." But that is subterfuge and not good business.

Proposal No. 3 on the state ballot provides that the compensation of the governor and others be determined by the state legislature.

New York pays its governor $25,000, California $25,000, Pennsylvania $18,000, New Jersey $20,000, Illinois $12,000, and Ohio $10,000.

Probably any Michigan officer in the top flight could make more in private life. He should not be asked to make a financial sacrifice to serve his state. The temptation to scrounge off the state should not be put in his way.

Nearly everyone has had a round and more of salary increases except our state officers. It's their turn and the power of regulating salaries should be in the hands of the legislature so that adjustments may be made as time goes on and conditions change.

Vote "yes" on proposal No. 3.

"I'm not as young as I used to be" is being proved every day.

There is a lot more health to be found out in the open than in a box or bottle.

We're wondering what the weather really has to blow about.

Take My Word For It . . Frank Colby

SATURDAY HODGEPODGE

Sacramento: How should we Delphians pronounce viva voce vote?—Mrs. G. W.

Answer: Use the English pronunciation: VY-vuh VOE-see.

Charleston: A news story speaks of a "woman's fraternity." Could it be?—A. S.

Answer: No. Fraternity and fraternal are from the Latin frater, "a brother." The woman's equivalent to a fraternity is a sorority, from the Latin soror, "a sister."

Benavides: Which is correct, airplane or aeroplane?—Mrs. J. C. P.

Answer: Aeroplane is the British form. The American spelling—airplane—was officially adopted by the Army, Navy, Bureau of Standards, U. S. Printing Office Style Book, etc., following World War I.

Mobile: I've come across the word gouache. What and how, please?—M. W.

Answer: It's a French loan word meaning a method of painting with opaque water colors prepared with gum. Also, a picture painted with such a mixture. Pronounce it: gwash, the "a" flat as in ash.

Omaha: What, please, is a pedant, and how do you pronounce the word?—A. S.

Answer: A pedant is a person who parades his book learning, but who, like my assistant, Dr. Etaoin Shrdlu, has little common sense. Pedant is pronounced: PED-unt. The adjective pedantic is: puh-DAN-tik. The word pedant is akin to pedagogue.

Harlingen: When I order oysters en brochette, should I say "bro-kay"?—Mrs. F. W. H.

Answer: Sorry, no. Brochette, French for skewer, is pronounced: braw-SHET.

Reseda: At work we use the phrase per diem. I pronounce it "per deem." Right?—Mrs. D. M. B.

Answer: Sorry, wrong. Correct: per DY-em.

Wexford: A radio announcer on an evening program featuring a poem a day irritates me by pronouncing it "PO-em." Can't you do something about this so that he'll use the correct pronunciation "pome"?—L. G. J.

Answer: Sorry. The announcer is correct. Po-em has two syllables. Better say: PO-em. The pronunciation "pome" is dialectal, and is as incorrect as it would be to say "pote" for poet.

* * *

Why is it incorrect to say "feel badly; look badly" etc.? These common mistakes are corrected in simple, nontechnical language in Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-10. Green's Regime Is Corrupt

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Childs

Chicago.—The low point of a campaign that was low enough already has been reached here in this rip-roaring city that Carl Sandburg called hog butcher to the world. It suggests a kind of political bankruptcy which Americans will ignore at their peril.

On the one hand was President Truman's demagogic speech. It was a crude appeal to the fears and suspicions of the racial minorities that live in Chicago's vast slums.

The words had been written for candidate Truman and they were utterly out of character. That made the crudity of the appeal more glaring. It underscored the recklessness of the implication that the Republicans were preparing the way for a Hitler.

On the other side, we see candidate Thomas E. Dewey embracing—going out of his way to embrace—Gov. Dwight Green and the Green political machine. This is in the face of the exposure of the corruption of the Green machine in a courageous newspaper, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

GAMBLERS FOR GREEN

In column after column beginning in early August the Post-Dispatch has documented the rottenness of the Republican machine in this state. Those stories showed how gambling and vice paid tribute to the Green organization.

They supplemented the report of a committee of the legislature which showed a year ago how state institutions were being mulcted of millions of dollars. Expert observers believe the "take" of the Republican machine in this state is far greater than the graft of the Pendergast machine in Missouri at the height of its power.

What is the answer to the Green machine to these charges? It is to set up under the direction of State Attorney General George F. Barrett a grand jury investigation in Peoria, which ends by returning an indictment against Theodore C. Link, reporter who brought to light the charges against the governor.

This is pretty brazen behavior. In fact, it is so brazen that it may cost Green his reelection in a state that seems certain to go for Dewey.

Green is the creature of the Chicago Tribune. Republican politicians, with good reason to know, say that three weeks before the Republican convention at Philadelphia Green made a deal with Dewey. In return for delivering the Illinois delegation to Dewey at the right moment, Green was to be nominated vice president, or if that could not be put over, then he would be made attorney general in the Dewey cabinet.

DAY OF RECKONING

Shades of Harry M. Daugherty! But that little dream went glimmering. Col. McCormick of the Tribune stepped on it. Later at Philadelphia McCormick, in an interview, said Dewey was such a poor candidate he could not carry 10 states.

The Post-Dispatch, in a powerful editorial on Sunday, charged that the action of the grand jury in trying to muzzle its reporter was "an act brought by faithless politicians who know that a day of reckoning for their misrule in Illinois is at hand." The Peoria Journal called it a "whitewash" deliberately intended to cover up evidence of crime and corruption uncovered by a previous grand jury.

To give its editorial wider currency, the Post-Dispatch paid to have it reprinted in a number of Illinois papers, including the Tribune, which has consistently distorted and played down the opposition campaign.

The irony is that the Democrats this year have an able candidate for governor and an able candidate for U. S. senator. Adlai Stevenson, whose career has taken him into many fields of activity, has a chance to beat Green. He has won wide support from Republicans sickened by the mess that Green has made in the state.

The Democratic candidate for the Senate is Paul Douglas, college professor and reform councilman in Chicago with a splendid combat record with the Marines. He has somewhat less of a chance to defeat Sen. C. Weyland Brooks, the Tribune's senator, who is clinging hard to Dewey's coattails in the hope of being pulled through.

Billboards splashed around the entire state and paid for out of the huge campaign fund collected by the machine show a handsome picture of Green. The caption underneath says: "The Good Governor." That is to make a mockery of words. It is a bad joke flung in the face of the state that produced Abraham Lincoln.

"Hey! Which Way Did the Parade Go?"

Good Evening
By Clint Dunathan

Dunathan

THE DISABLED—It is more than strange that the American people can so calmly accept the evidence of war's disabling fury. Perhaps that is well —and then it may be that we have forgotten something we should not forget.

This thought came to us the other day when we saw Rep. Charles E. Potter, Delta county's representative in congress, being jostled in a crowd around the doorway of the Cornell township hall. Rep. Potter was among several hundred people who attended the 1948 Delta county Potato Show.

Charley Potter doesn't mind being caught in a crowd—except that it's kind of hard to maneuver two artificial legs and a couple of canes.

You see he lost both legs in World War II while he was on night patrol in the Colmar pocket. A land mine exploded.

* * *

FORTUNATE — Potter is among the more fortunate of the 125,000 disabled American veterans. He has no legs, but he does have thousands of friends— and satisfying work to do in serving his constituents.

He is fortunate because he has not lost the ability to enjoy mingling with people who may not understand how it is to get along without your own two legs. When he is pushed and jostled in a crowd he knows that people are not thinking of Charley Potter, the guy who has no legs, but of Charley Potter the congressman.

There is no martyr in Charley. He makes those artificial legs carry him where he wants to go, without aid. He climbs stairs, walks over rough ground. His canes are of metal and plastic and within them is a little battery and a light. By pushing a button the light flashes on, illuminating the pathway ahead.

* * *

WELL TO REMEMBER— Because Charles E. Potter asks no quarter in his personal struggle with life people are likely to forget that he—and some 125,000 other veterans—are war-handicapped.

Charley isn't lonely. But there are thousands of disabled veterans in hospitals who can be very lonely, if they are forgotten. Many of these veterans in hospitals are far from home. Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day—all of the holidays that mean so much in homely pleasures—can be dreary unless someone remembers. And all of us might remember that through the organization of Disabled American Veterans there is never forgetfulness of the war-handicapped. They will remember though you may forget.

* * *

THE SECOND ONE— Alvin Christopherson of Alpena is Rep. Potter's secretary.

Alvin is also a casualty of World War II. He suffered the loss of his right arm and his lower jaw was mangled in the fighting in Africa. A lot of things reckoned as two-handed business are done by Alvin with growing skill. With that left hand he can tie his own tie and shoestrings, drive a car, light his own cigarettes.

* * *

WHAT YOU SEE—When you see Alvin you know that he is handicapped. Charley Potter's canes reveal his disability.

Thousands of war veterans are disabled, seriously, permanently, yet there is no outward sign. A suit of clothes can hide the scars of war, plastic surgery can repair the shattered face, but they can never restore the well-being of a once-whole and healthy body.

Most service-connected disabilities are invisible. The well-pressed suit, the broad chest, the smiling face of the war veteran do not necessarily mean that he is either prosperous or employed. His condition may make it impossible for him to obtain or hold a job.

* * *

THE COME BACK—The care and the rehabilitation of the war disabled might be considered as a cost of the war itself. Economy in government is commendable. Many so-called "services" now extended to the public are certainly less worthy than any program of helpfulness to the disabled veteran. When economies are made, let the axe fall on dead wood.

If the war-handicapped veteran is to be rehabilitated, given the help he needs to make a come-back as a self-supporting civilian, it can be done only through the federal government. The cost of war must include the cost in restoring, so far as possible, the war-handicapped.

THEY CAN WORK —Charley Potter and Alvin Christopherson are examples of disabled veterans who are neither malingering nor belly-aching. They are working hard at the jobs they have.

A survey of one thousand manufacturers employing 330,000 workers shows that 55 per cent of the plants surveyed are not employing handicapped ex-servicemen. Only two per cent of the employes in the remaining 45 per cent of the plants were disabled veterans. "They are proving themselves valuable employes" the employers reported.

We need people of faith and fire to shake us free from a deadly creeping paralysis which constantly threatens (us)—a paralysis induced by the easily acquired habit of looking to someone else to solve our problems. — Terry Wickham, president, Heidelberg College in Ohio.

Roving Reporter

New York, (AP)—Mad trappers, treacherous Indians and claim-jumping gold prospectors aren't causing the Royal Canadian Mounted Police much trouble these days.

But scientists are.

"They go into the wilds to study the caribou or the habits of the natives," said Inspector William Dick. "Often they don't have the proper gear, and when they get lost we have to go and get them out."

Inspector Dick is here with 32 of his Mounties to put on a riding demonstration at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, Nov. 2 to 9.

The Canadian Mountie of fact today leads a busier but less romantic life than the Mountie of fiction.

There are only 3,500. And they have to enforce Dominion law over a tremendous area of 3,462,102 square miles with a population of more than 12,600,000.

Job No Cinch

It isn't easy to be a Mountie.

"Of the last 6,000 applicants only 357 were accepted," said Inspector Dick, a rugged veteran of 40 who spent six years with the Canadian army overseas.

"We get them from all walks of life, but some of our best Mounties have been farmboys. They seem to know how to take care of themselves better."

Every Mountie still has to learn to ride a horse and shoot a gun, but he also has to study some 65 technical subjects during his eight to nine-month training course. He starts his career at $3.50 a day plus food, clothing and quarters. There is an extra allowance for married men, and they get a pension after 25 years.

Most Mounties now travel by patrol car. If they need a horse in the field they rent it—from a farmer or a riding academy.

Smugglers Big Problem

Only volunteers are accepted for the arduous two-year tours of duty on far northern patrol. A Mountie gets fifty cents a day extra on such a job and may travel 2,000 miles a year by foot, canoe and dog sled.

"His chief duties are to collect fur taxes, enforce game laws, look after the welfare of the natives and supervise the $5 a month payment every child in Canada gets until he is 16," said the inspector. "There isn't much crime up there."

The R. C. M. P. also has six airplanes and 82 vessels for customs patrol work and rescues at sea. There are a number of Mounties stationed abroad to screen prospective immigrants.

The biggest problem along the international border? Cigaret smugglers from the United States.

"Cigarets sell for 35 cents a pack in Canada," Dick said.

Mounties also do highway patrol work—but they don't set traps for speeders.

"That would be unpopular," the inspector grinned.

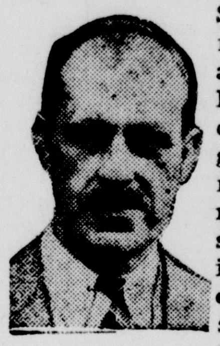
One sign that Canada has tamed down—just like the American wild west:

"We haven't had a mad trapper case since 1931," said Inspector Dick, "but in that time three babies have been born in the back seat of my car as the mothers were being taken to a hospital."

And he brought 'em all in alive, too. The Mounties get their man.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON



Pearson

Washington. — Keeping - the - record - straight department—The other day, in Oklahoma, P. Nelson Deranian, counsel for the Senate election subcommittee, let loose a blast against ex-Governor Bob Kerr, running as a Democrat for senator, on the ground that he spent too much money in his primary. That Bob Kerr spent a fistful of money is probably correct. However, to keep the record straight, let's look at some things on the other side of the picture.

First, millionaire oilman Ed Moore, Republican, whose place Kerr is seeking, spent a young fortune getting elected in 1942. Second, Mr. Deranian, together with Senator Jenner of Indiana, chairman of the election subcommittee, are not in a strong position to criticise others.

Deranian, by a strange quirk, happens to be the law partner of Robert W. Lyons, big-time Washington lobbyist, and ex-secretary of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan. But perhaps, when you examine the facts carefully, the quirk isn't so strange after all. For Lyons is really the man who put William E. Jenner in the Senate. And Deranian is now Lyons' man - Friday inside Jenner's committee.

Lyons has always nursed political ambitions in Indiana, but always has been thwarted. In 1944 he was actually elected chairman of the Indiana Republican state committee, but news of his election caused so many people to hold their noses that he was ousted. What makes Indiana voters hold their noses about Lyons is first, his connection with the Ku Klux Klan at a time when the Klan was in its goriest heyday, and when Kleagle Stevenson was convicted of murder; second, Lyons' $300,000 lobbying fees for the chain stores.

The record of Lyons' chain store operations is all a matter of official congressional record for any newspaperman to dig out, and it makes highly interesting reading. The folks back in Indiana are reasonably familiar with it, so much so that Lyons can never get anywhere with his political ambitions.

However, that hasn't prevented Lyons from putting his own man in the Senate, namely, William E. Jenner, elected in 1946 with the back-stage backing of Lyons and the big Indiana beer interests. In fact, some interesting reports were published back in Indiana about Jenner's own campaign contributions at the time of his election. But, when the Republicans took over control of the Senate in 1946, no investigation was ever made of Jenner's campaign funds.

On the contrary, Jenner was placed on a committee to investigate other people's elections, and is now chairman of its chief sub-committee. As such, the gentleman from Indiana conducted one of the unfairest probes in recent Senate history—that regarding the 1946 election of West Virginia's Democratic Harley Kilgore. The chief graft unearthed in West Virginia was upon the part of the brother of the Republican national committeeman, Walter S. Hallanan, who was indicted for stealing votes. Despite graft on the part of the Republicans, Jenner kept the probe of Democratic Kilgore's election up in the air for two full years.

If ex-Governor Kerr has spent a lot of money in Oklahoma, it should be investigated—but by an impartial committee, not one whose record and whose backstage wire pullers cannot stand the clear light of day.

BARKLONIAN HUMOR

Even if Alben Barkley isn't elected vice president, he still will have a lot of pleasant memories of this campaign.

Talking long-distance from Huntington, West Virginia, to Les Biffle, director of the Senate Democratic policy committee, Barkley reported: "I've been doing a lot of flying—and is my face red!"

"What from—the wind?" inquired Biffle.

"No, from being kissed by all those pretty girls here in West Virginia."

WRONG NAME FOR GOOD FRIEND

Republican Congressman John McDowell of Pennsylvania is one member of the un-American activities committee who does not believe in "kick-backs." However, a bit jittery about his own re-election chances, he had a talk with James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO and right bower to CIO boss Phil Murray.

"You know," said McDowell, "I'm really not hostile to your organization. And I want you to be sure and tell your president, Mr. Philip Murphy, that I said so. He's an old friend of mine. Be sure and give Mr. Murphy my regards."

BANKERS INCREASE RATES

The bankers have decided not to wait for the Republicans to move into the treasury department to hake the interest rate on crop loans. Already the American Bankers association is engaged in a significant tussle with the Commodity Credit corporation over raising interest rates.

At present the interest on cotton, wheat and corn loans is 3 per cent, which is split between the CCC and private banks, each getting 1½ per cent. However, the A. B. A. has demanded that the banks' share be raised to 2 per cent, on the ground that the present return isn't enough to pay service costs of loans. Also, the bankers' group contends that the new Federal Reserve restrictions on bank reserves have decreased the amount of money available for lending, so it's unfair, therefore, to expect banks to continue crop loans on such a small margin of return.

These weighty arguments, hoyever, so far have produced only stifled yarns at the CCC. The agency has politely reminded the A. B. A. that, while banks make the crop loans, the government takes all the risk because the loans are insured 100 per cent by the taxpayers. Second, the CCC has some convincing figures showing that bank-service costs are more than offset by the increased volume of crop loans; also, that the increased size of individual loans has substantially reduced the service costs.

Hunt For Lost Hunter From Capac Continues

Newberry—The most intensive search for a lost man in the Upper Peninsula is being made for the past ten days and not a single clue has been discovered.

F. Hale Currier, 53, 6 feet tall and weighs 165 pounds, proprietor of a general merchandise store at Capac, Michigan, for the past 30 years, has been missing from his hunting camp, Capdet, since Sunday afternoon, October 17.

The camp is located in a forest area, of a large amount of thickets, hardwood and swamp land which is covered with a blanket of leaves. The 16C acre tract is located between sections 19 and 20, range 9 west, township 48 north, Luce County, and is about two miles north of the old lumber camp, known by many of the hunters in the lower peninsula and the U. P. as Lungs Lumber Camp. Four hunters from Capac and four from Detroit, own the camp, therefore giving it the name of camp Capdet. It is 17 miles north of Newberry. Numerous old and new logging roads are in the territory about the camp.

JOINS SEARCH

Ross P. Davis of Gladstone, brother-in-law of Currier, who intermittently has been aiding in the search, returned to Newberry this morning to remain for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Currier and Hr. and Mrs. Clarence Waltz of Capac, Michigan, arrived Sunday morning, October 17, about 8:30, at the camp north of Chesborough Lake to join Dr. and Mrs. Grover Brockman of Detroit, who had arrived at the camp several days previous. During the afternoon the three men went for a stroll in the woods, taking their guns as the bird season was still open. Each of the men took a different trail. Currier was wearing army combat shoes ,army dungarees and jacket, green wool shirt and tan cap, was carrying a .22 caliber rifle. On the back of his jacket was a small game license No. H. A. 1033. Currier, it is said, walked west from the camp on a ridge. The man was well acquainted with the country as he and other Capac and Detroit men used the camp for the past five years.

Citizens Began Search

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lang of Capac arrived at the camp about 7:30 p. m. Worried over the absence of Currier and having snowed at intervals throughout the day, with visibility very poor in the evening, the Michigan State Police and the Department of Conservation with headquarters at Newberry were notified. Three inches of snow had fallen by Monday morning. The State Police, Conservation Officers and Newberry citizens began the search. Searchers are still continuing to comb the area and have no thought of abandoning the search up to this time.

Aeroplanes were used in the search, John Rossi of Marquette with the Conservation Department plane with Conservation District Supervisor F. P. Furlong, as observer. Thomas Butler piloted his plane, having Conservation Officer Richard "Dick" Beach, as observer. Kenneth Gerou also assisted in the search with his private plane. Sunday, October 24, the Trout Brothers of Almont, Michigan, flew their plane to Newberry and spent some time trying to locate some trace of Currier, but without success.

Wednesday night, October 20, between 11 p. m. and midnight, 43 Capac business and professional men, also citizens arrived in Newberry to assist in the search for their prominent friend, F. Hale Currier, as well as providing an abundent supply of food. Newberry people have been amazed by the loyalty shown by the Capac residents, having left their work and homes to do everything possible to locate the missing man.

Volunteers From Capac

The next day, Thursday, more volunteers from Capac arrived in Newberry, having over 100 men doing their utmost to find Currier. Some of the group remained for a few days, others for a week or over, but if a group returned to Capac another group was sent in as relief. Never before in the memory of old timers here, has one city organized itself in such a arge volume, fresh baked goods arrived as different groups began to trek to the big timber country in northern Michigan. Capac is a farming community, 367 miles from Newberry with a population of 1000 persons. The members of the Capac fire department journeyed to Newberry to do their share in an effort to find their beloved friend. Friends and relatives from other nearby cities to Capac, namely, Imlay City, Almont, Lapeer and Detroit joined in the search.

Thirty Newberry High School students offered their services in the hunt on Friday, October 22. The group included players from the varsity football team, The Indians.

The prominent personnel from Capac here were: Peter Knoll, village president; Harry Bussell, Wallace Leslie and Fred Peterson, members of the Village Board. Charles Lincoln, secretary of the Lions Club and Athletic Coach of the Capac High School; Robert Emmons, president of the Capac Chamber of Commerce; Ralph Van Volkinburg, Superintendent of Schools; Wallace Leslie, principal; Albert Goudy, Peter Knoll and Jerry Wallace, members of the Capac School Board; Nobel Hunter, editor of the Capac Journal. Players on the Capac High School team left immediately after playing a night football game with Memphis, Michigan on Friday, October 22.

R. B. Sayles, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Martin Harju, Sr. president of the Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club at Newberry, called for a posse of one hundred men, asking for volunteers from Sault Ste. Marie and St. Ignace, Michigan, to join local citizens in the search on Sunday, October 24. Approximately 200 men were among the searchers. Lunch was served at noon by the Chamber of Commerce at Camp Capdet.

The area is being combed from early morning until darkness each day. The men are lined up in groups of 25, 50 and as high as 85 abreast, being 10 to 15 feet aptrt and kept in straight lines proceeding through the heavily wooded area. The lines are led by Sgt. John Pennala and troopers of the Michigan State Police of Newberry, and Conservation Officers. Lawrence Kosequat an Indian guide, lumber men of the area and J. P. Rahilly, Conservation Commissioner are also among the large number of searchers. Mrs. Currier, assisted by ladies of Capac, each day prepares a lunch for the groups at noon.

Officers and posses redoubled their efforts on Tuesday, October 26, in a search for F. Hale Currier, the searching parties including State Police from every post in the Northern Peninsula, extra Conservation Officers and Fire Wardens.

Police from Wakefield, L'Anse, Iron Mountain, Marquette, Gladstone, Manistique, St. Ignace and Newberry posts are on the hunt, as well as many Conservation men from McMillan, Naubinway, Newberry and Engadine.

Mr. Currier has a wife, Lucy, and two sons, Philip and James. James is a student in Central Michigan College, of Education, Mt. Pleasant, Michigan. His mother is Mrs. M. A. Currier, 82, of Almont, Michigan. Mr. Currier is a college friend of P. S. Hamilton of Newberry, both having attended Olivet College at Olivet, Michigan, 1913 and 1914. He was active in sports. Currier was born in Almont, Michigan. He served in World War I for about 18 months, half of which time was spent overseas in France. His father, Mose Currier, began operating a general merchandise store at Capac in 1912, the store for the past 30 years has been operated by F. Hale Currier. Mr. and Mrs. Currier were married 27 years, October 11.

A reward of $500.00 is offered by the Village of Capac, Michigan, for information leading to the finding and location of F. Hale Currier.

Capac Aroused

Capac, Mich., Oct. 30 (AP)—This little village in Michigan's thumb has moved nearly 20 per cent of its residents some 400 miles to look for one of its lost sons.

The missing man is 53-year-old F. Hale Currier, who ran a general store in Capac, about 28 miles west of Port Huron.

He wandered away from his hunting lodge near Newberry, Mich., Oct. 17 and hasn't been seen since.

Although little hope is held for his safety, one of the greatest manhunts in Upper Peninsula history is nearing the end of its second week.

Currier was known as an able woodsman. He had a rifle, compass and plenty of matches when he disappeared. To stay alive he would have had to build a fire and the searchers feel they would have sighted its smoke. Or he would have stumbled onto one of the many trails that lace the wild woods around Newberry—trails that led to civilization and safety.

About 200 Capac residents have taken part in the search. Most of them took their own food with them to Newberry. They set up soup kitchens and fed their own people as well as volunteers from Newberry who joined State Police and conservation officers in the hunt.

They fanned through every square foot within a radius of a mile and a half of the Currier cabin near Chesbrough Lake in Luce county. Then they expanded the area and widened their sweeps.

The people around Newberry, used to routine searches for missing woodsmen and hunters, were amazed at the urge that brought 200 Capac citizens all the way up north to look for their friend.

"What is this Capac?" they asked. "Is it a school or a town or what?"

It's a town, nearly 100 years old and named for one of the first Peruvain Emperors, Manco Capac. It has 960 residents. On the Grand Trunk Railway, it also is on Michigan Route 21 about halfway between Port Huron and Lapeer.

It is a trading center for a rich farm area that raises dairy products, grain, sugar beets and vegetables.

Currier was just a country merchant in this little crossroads, running the same general store his father ran before him. There are benches in the store near the radiator for his friends who drop in during the bitter thumb winters.

After he was gone, he was missed. So his neighbors started 400 miles to find him.

Butchers, bakers, bankers and rival storekeepers forgot their business to journey northward by plane or car and try to find Currier.

Why? The answer is simple to anyone who lives in Capac.

"He was wonderfully well liked here," explained superintendent of schools Ralph Van Volkinburg.

DOG SEARCHES FOR MASTER—The most concentrated search for a lost man in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan is being made near Newberry for F. Hale Currier, 53, six feet tall and 165 pounds, proprietor for a general merchandising store at Capac, Lower Michigan, who has been missing from his hunting camp, Capdet, since Sunday afternoon, Oct. 17. Above, Mr. Currier's dog, who has hunted in vain for his master, as he lay tired out. The cocker spaniel refuses to eat and just roams the nearby woods. Michigan State Police, conservation officers, and Newberry citizens have joined in the search for Currier, who has been lost since he went bird hunting near his camp on Oct. 17. (Fred Schultz Photo)

HOLIDAY GOODS MORE ABUNDANT

Better Merchandise For Christmas Shoppers

BY ROGER BABSON

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 29—Once again we approach the Christmas season with prices high although inventories are again in good supply. All stores have reduced their stocks of shoddy merchandise and we now find better materials in most lines. In some cases, better than pre-war goods are now available. Continued high prices will not stop the usual late Christmas shopping rush. So begin your purchases now and save yourself and your dollars.

Shopping Trends

Service and courtesy of employees has improved considerably, thus reflecting the slow trend from a sellers' to a buyers' market. Manufacturers are beginning to tempt the general public with luxury items such as television sets, deep freeze chests and electric blankets. In fact a real demand has been created for this type of merchandise by wide advertising. So fast are sales in television climbing that domination of the home entertainment field may be looked for within two years. These and like luxury items will be bought in part with income-tax rebates.

With this year's bumper crops and accompanying lowered prices we might expect the volume of Christmas buying in farm areas to slide. Yet, the annual total of the farmers' income is nearly as good as last year, the larger crops partially offsetting the lower prices. Let us not forget, however, that a good part of this continued high income is due to the price support program.

Effects Of Election

Although a Republican victory in November will undoubtedly brighten the outlook of business in general, it is unlikely to have much effect on Christmas shopping except among government employees. Christmas shopping in Washington will surely be less this coming December than it has been for many years. However, taken all in all, merchants may expect another bumper Christmas.

The expected business optimism following a Republican victory will be somewhat restrained this year. For business already knows, in the light of International disharmony, that it must do without unlimited quantities of steel and certain other raw materials. For we must never be caught disarmed again. The stock market, however, should look more cheerful this coming Christmas than it did a year ago.

The Yuletide Spirit

A woman said to me this summer that she hated to read the evening newspaper because it made her too "blue" to go to sleep. Since her remark I have been conscious of looking for what was optimistic in the evening news and I have found what I looked for. It isn't just at Christmas that parties are given for the kids. They occur throughout the year. Fishing competitions, skilled demonstrations in outdoor sports, club activities are going on all the year to brighten peopes lives.

Helpful new drugs have been discovered this year and the uses of others improved. Deaths from pneumonia and some other diseases have been less in 1948. While the Russians were blockading Berlin all summer—the United States was showing famed old Masters from German Museums to United States art lovers. The admissions were collected to benefit unfortunate German children. And now I have been pleased to read that a prominent Japanese communist has admitted that his handsome new, double-breasted suit (a rare item in Japan) came from the United States and not from Soviet Russia.

Let Us Remember Others

The Christmas season and the New Year bring us hope of better solving our domestic problems—problems concerned with such issues as juvenile delinquency, public health, debt reduction and labor relations. Let us show our gratitude by sending gifts to the children of the world. Let us pray that truth and fair dealing in international relations may add to the flood of good will generated by this season here in the United States.

Iron Ore Fleet Busy As Season Nears End

By Clayton R. Sutton

Cleveland — Scurrying Great Lakes iron ore freighters are running a close race with steel's dizzy production pace.

It could be a long tussle, stretching beyond the nip and tuck of iron ore supply and consumption this year and next.

The reason: The numerical strength of the Lakes fleet, which hauls nearly 85% of the iron ore used in steel-making from the Lake Superior mining region to lower Lakes steel centers, has been dwindling since the war. Meanwhile, steel's blast furnaces have been gulping iron ore at a record peacetime rate.

The vast tonnage of steel being fashioned into farm equipment, railroad cars, automobiles and refrigerators is made from pig iron and scrap. Blast furnaces convert iron ore into pig iron.

This year, steel blast furnaces are digesting some 80 million tons of Lake Superior iron ore. That's a shade less than last year, but it's nearly double the 1936-40 average of about 46 million tons.

Depends on Steel Output

If steel's sprinting demand begins to weaken, the lanky Lake vessels can gradually overtake the iron ore requirements of the blast furnaces. But if steel production goes into the 1950's at anything like its present rate, say brow-wrinkled Lake operators, new ships will be needed to carry the ore.

In 1939, for example, the American iron ore fleet of 302 vessels with a capacity in excess of 2.7 million tons had little trouble moving 45 million tons to feed the blast furnace need that year of about 44 million tons.

But this year the American fleet of 272 vessels with a capacity of 2.6 million tons has had to hustle to move what is expected to be about 77 million tons of an estimated 82 million ton total.

The difference of about five million tons is being hauled by 45 Canadian ships, permitted by a special act of Congress last spring to carry iron ore cargoes between American Lake ports.

Sufficient Stockpiles

By December 1, when winter's ice closes down the Great Lakes' shipping season, the combined American and Canadian fleets are expected to have sufficient iron ore at lower Lake stockpiles to provide blast furnaces comfortably until next April and the start of the 1949 movement. But the margin will be comparatively small—possibly two million tons more will be in the stockpiles on next April 1 than the 16 million tons there at the start of the current season. This contrasts with 27.6 million tons of ore stockpiled on April , 1946 and a 1935-38 average of 25.5 million tons.

What's happened to the ships in the American Great Lakes fleet? In 1941, Lake ship operators in an agreement with the former War Shipping Administration constructed 16 new vessels with a combined tonnage approvimately equal to 36 old and smaller ones. The latter were to be scrapped at the end of the war.

So far, 30 of these have been scrapped while six are still being allowed to operate because of the urgent iron ore demand. In addition, since 1939, seven vessels have been converted to self unloaders, used chiefly in the limestone and coal trade, and others have been sold to Canadian interests.

While there doesn't appear to be any danger of an iron ore shortage for steel-making this winter and next year—given a 1949 shipping season of good weather — Lake ship operators are looking to the 1950's. Many of their ships are nearing or have passed the half-century mark. (Lake vessels don't deteriorate as rapidly as those plying salt water.) Others are small in tonnage capacity.

According to the Lake Carriers' Association, whose members operate some 97% of the Great Lakes' bulk cargo fleet, nearly 49% of the vessels are more than 40 years old and 78% are more than 30 years old.

Worry Over Future Capacity

Consequently, with one eye on the rolling avalanche of steel production and the other on their aging vessels, Lake ships operators are understandably concerned about their future capacity. In addition, some emphasize, there's a possibility of losing the six vessels yet to be scrapped under the W. S. A. agreement, plus the prospect another Congress might not permit Canadian ships to carry iron ore between U. S. ports in peacetime.

Already, the Inland Steel Co., whose present fleet of five vessels is operated by Hutchinson & Co., has under construction a huge iron ore freight of 20,000-ton capacity. When this Goliath slides down the ways of the American Shipbuilding Co.'s Lorain, Ohio yards, probably some time in 1950, its 675-foot length and 70-foot beam will be the biggest on the Lakes.

The Pittsburgh Steamship Co., ore-hauling subsidiary of U. S. Steel Corp., which now has five 18,000-ton vessels in its lake fleet of 62 vessels, is reported to be studying the advisability of building three new iron ore ships. Other big fleet operators like the Interlake Steamship Co., operated by Pickands, Mather & Co., iron ore miners and merchants, and the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., also are said to be interested in new ship construction.

But the cost of building new iron ore vessels, like that of constructing manufacturing plants, has skyrocketed since the war. It's the major stumbling block to the laying of new ship keels.

The 16 new vessels built under the W. S. A. agreement in 1941-43 cost about $2,225,000 each. Similar ships launched today would run about $4.5 million. The New Inland Steel Co. ship is costing around $5 million.

Inland Steel's vessel, however, will probably be used for hauling iron ore from the head of the Lakes to the steel company's own docks in the Chicago area with a minimum of port entries. Consequently, it will be considerably larger than most Lake operators could handle efficiently. Most Lake shippers need vessels with sufficient maneuverability to squeeze in and out of limited port and dock facilities.

A wedding of much interest to many Chatham residents is that of Miss Martha Laitinen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Laitinen of Chatham, to Erick Palo, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Palo of Crystal Falls which took place at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, Octber 25 in the parsonage of the Bethel Lutheran church, Ishpeming, with the Reverend Douglas Ollila officiating.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. John Seppi of Chatham, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Eben high school and the Franklin Boulevard hospital training school, Chicago, and is on the nursing staff of the Ishpeming hospital. The groom is a graduate of Crystal Falls high school and a veteran of World War II. At present he is employed as a conservation officer and stationed at Michigamme.

RUARK CALLS ON EMILY POST

Her Book On Etiquette Still Sells Well

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—Somebody — I believe it was me—once remarked that only three things remain stable in America today—the Bible, baseball, and Emily Post. I have just been up to visit the third member of the trio, and she more or less agrees with me. She regretfully believes that Emily Post is the only security left for gracious folk.

Mrs. Post occupies her mid-seventies now, but she still bounces right along. Her book "Etiquette" came out in 1922, and is today selling a steady 10,000 per month. That is not too bad for a tome that rides for five bucks a copy, and has been cluttering the stands for 26 years. It is now being updated for the fourth time, in order to keep step with the fickle times.

Standards Haven't Changed

But Mrs. Post allows, despite the baleful influence of Hollywood and loosened rules of living inspired by two wars, that the standards of good behavior have not changed—that only the method of performing them changes. The current updating of "Etiquette" is an effort to recover some of the formal ground that was lost when mothers, slack-clad, were spotwelding in shipyards, and brides rode forth to be married on the groom's 24-hour pass from some military camp.

"Mama started out writing to tell the new rich how to behave like nice people, "says her son, Edwin, a lean, handsome man in his early 50's. "She has now come full circle. Now she is telling the new poor how to be gracious without servants."

A couple of momentous things have happened to Mrs. Post recently. First is that her iron whim is presently required reading for upper-brackets Russians in diplomatic and military circles. Mr. Stalin, so far, has neglected to forward any royalties, which distresses Mrs. Post, who is an inflexible capitalist of Republican persuasion. But she regards Russian interest in correct living as a healthy sign of decay behind the iron curtain.

Has Radio Program

The other major event is the birth of a new radio program. Mrs. Post has so far unbent as to allow the application of soap-opera dramatic technique to her idea of what's right and what ain't. Ann Kent, her comely top-sergeant for 17 years, will speak for the Post Institute in daily dramatization of the niceties of living. Ere long, the withers of decorum-conscious housewives will be wrung from coast-to-coast.

A handsome lady who was born in Baltimore, and hence qualifies as a southern Belle, Mrs. Post still mourns for the dusty days at Tuxedo, when claw-hammer coats were worn so steadily it was possible for a gentleman to collect a high shine on the seat of his formal broadcloth. A lady, she says, really got some wear out of an evening gown in those days.

"Why, I remember when Grizzy Lorillard appeared in the first dinner-jacket ever to be worn in the United States. I was only a little girl, but I was shocked. He might just as well have come down to dinner in his bathrobe;"

Mrs. Post abominates many departures from the correct life, but she especially despises pants on women, society ladies who put their feet on tables at the opera—ah, there, Betty—high class gin-mills and cafe society guzzlers who pass for true society today. Concerning slacks on women, she believes that if God had intended ladies to wear trousers, he would have constructed them somewhat differently.

I asked Mrs. Post if she had ever felt tempted to eat peas with her knife, which she denied — "but only for lack of skill." She still stands firmly for cutting lettuce with a knife, and is still embarrassed at having been reproved for wearing a big hat at the movies. Her heckler quoted Emily Post as authority for the reprimand. And there was a question I'd been wanting to ask for 20 years: Did you ever get sore and deliverately insult anybody?

"I am afraid," she said gravely, "The answer is yes. And I never make up afterwards."

Miss Sayklly, John Schiska Exchange Vows

Traditional ivory satin was worn by Elizabeth Sayklly, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Sayklly, 1304 Ludington street, for her marriage this morning to John J. Schiska, jr., of Norway, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Schiska, sr. The double ring ceremony was performed at an eight o'clock nuptial high mass at St. Patrick's church by Rev. Fr. Howard Drolet. White and lavendar mums arranged with the lighted altar candles forming the setting for the service, and white satin ribbons marked the pews reserved for members of the families.

The bride's gown of Elizabethian style was fashioned with snug-fitting bodice, distinguished by a lace yoke with satin rosettes outlined with seed pearls, long tapering sleeves and a full skirt with three rows of satin ribbing at the hipline. Her fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion was caught to a tiara of seed pearls matching the pearls on the dress. She carried a bridal bouquet of white baby mums and tea roses centered with an orchid.

Bridal Aides in Satin

Preceding the bride and her brother, Fred Sayklly, who gave her in marriage, down the white carpeted aisle were Miss Marie Sayklly, her sister, who was maid of honor and Rita Schiska, who was the bridesmaid. Marie's gown was of fuchsia satin and Rita's of olive green satin. They were styled with fitted bodices, decollete necklines and full skirts. Matching Juliet caps and gloves completed their costumes. Marie carried bronze and yellow mums with a white chrysanthemum center and the bridemaid's bouquet was pink roses and white and lavender mums.

Paul Schiska was best man for his brother and Edward Sayklly was groomsman. Edward and Edmund Sayklly ushered the guests to their places.

At the close of the service Joseph Kobasic, nephew of the bride, presented her with the bouquet which she placed on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Mrs. Sayklly selected a dress of dove grey with sequin trim for her daughter's wedding and her hat and accessories were of the same shade. Mrs. Schiska wore plum crepe with matching accessories. The bride's mother wore a harmonizing corsage of pink and lavender mums and Mrs. Schiska's shoulderette was pink roses and white baby mums.

Breakfast and Reception

The music of the wedding mass was sung by St. Patrick's choir and the bridal processional and recessional were played by Mrs. William Ramspeck, organist. At the offertory Mrs. Lucille Rodman sang "Ave Maria" and at the communion Mrs. John Kress sang "Panis Angelicus." As the bride knelt at the altar of the Blessed Virgin "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" was played by the organist.

A wedding breakfast for 75 guests was served at the Chicken Shack and a reception is being held this afternoon at the home of the bride. Centering the autumn floral decorations and tapers in crystal holders is the four-tiered wedding cake, topped by a cluster of wedding bells and a miniature bridal couple. Concealed in the cake is a tiny music box which plays the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. Assisting at the reception are Mrs. Gus Engdahl, Miss Kathryn Skopp, Miss Leah Guindon and Mrs. Lucille Rodman.

The couple will leave for a week's honeymoon, their destination unannounced. For traveling the bride is wearing an emerald green dressmaker suit and topper with black accessories and an orchid corsage. They will live at 311 South Tenth street in Escanaba. The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph high school. Her husband, who attended school in Norway, is a veteran, serving with the Army for five years in the European theatre of war.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding include Mr. and Mrs. John Schiska, sr., and Joy, of Norway; Miss June Bos Bous, Sault Ste. Marie; Mr. and Mrs. Al Seroogy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farah, Mrs. Walter Adamanay, Mr. and Mrs Esber Farah, Donald Farah and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Youniss, Green Bay; Miss Eva Maloof, Dubois, Pa.; Teddy Ayoub and Fred Kiskish, Houghton; Mrs. Thomas Arbagey and daughter, Helen and James Elias, Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herro, Watertown, Wis.

Sophie Buda and Roger J. Kirch Wed in Ann Arbor

Rapid River—Miss Sophie Buda, daughter of Mrs. Mary Buda of Munising, and Rogert J. Kirch, son of Charles Kirch of Rapid River, were married Saturday October 23, at a 10 o'clock ceremony in St. Thomas church in Ann Arbor.

Miss Della Clevens of Munising, a close friend of the bride, and Arnold Kirch, brother of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

The bride wore a dressmaker suit of bronze satin with matching accessories and a corsage of baby mums of gold and bronze. She carried a prayer book with matching satin streamers and rosebuds. Miss Clevens wore a dressmaker suit of blue wool crepe with matching accessories and wore a corsage of rosebuds.

The bride's mother, who is ill, was unable to attend the ceremony.

A wedding breakfast for 26 guests was served at 12 o'clock at the Michigan Union building, followed by a 2 o'clock reception at the home of Mrs. Hilda Kelsey.

Home in Kalamazoo

Following their honeymoon the newlyweds will live in Kalamazoo. The bride holds a secretarial position at the University of Michigan. The bridegroom, who attended the University of Michigan following his graduation from Rapid River high school, is with the Michigan State Highway Department.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Charles Kirch, Mrs. Ed Lind and daughters, Sue and Marion, and Bob Potvin of Rapid River; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kirch and daughters, Mary Lou, Patricia and Jane of Falls Church, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. Kern Sullivan of Kalamazoo; and Mr. and Mrs. H. FOR BETTER HOMES Build - Repair - Remodel FOR BETTER LIVING

DISTINCTIVE IN DESIGN, this cottage, "The Clinton," may be placed on a lot with a 50-foot frontage. The groups of windows at the front may be planned as oriels or full bays, if the builder so desires.

50-Foot Lot Accommodates This Cottage

With complete living accommodations for a small family on the first floor, and two extra bedrooms provided for in the attic which may be left unfinished until they are actually needed, "The Clinton" is a home that has much to commend it.

This plan from the Home of the Week Plan Service, has good-sized rooms, but its total cubage is only 12,000 feet, plus 2800 additional cubic feet for the attached garage.

With outside dimensions of 26x 23 feet, the house could be built upon a 50-foot front lot. This is distinctly a point in favor of the plan, for lots with 60-foot frontage are harder to obtain and, usually, more expensive.

Lastly, The Clinton enjoys considerable distinction in design, yet is sufficiently conservative to fit into any good neighborhood.

Instead of the usual central entrance, the architect has placed the main door in the garage set-back. Breaking the front elevation, a nicely proportioned central gable with vertical siding exterior finish is used.

Inside the house, the gable creates headroom for the stairway to the second floor. A circular window in the front wall lights the stairway. Mullion windows with slat shutters and window boxes give a "homey' aspect and add decorative interest to the main elevation. The exterior finish is white-painted clapboards with green trim to harmonize with a green asphalt shingle roof.

At the front entrance there is a concrete slab stoop with simple iron rail at one side and a Colonial style black wrought-iron light fixture above the stock Colonial door.

The door opens into a compact entry with a large coat closet. An arch at the left of the hall opens into the living room. The mullion window, and another window on the side of the house, generously illumine this 13x10 foot room. Across the room from the entry arch, a setback in the wall is designed to accommodate a divan. Doors at either side of this wall jog open on the stairs at the left, and an inner hall connecting with first-floor bedrooms, bathroom and the cellar stairway.

The house has no dining room. Formal meals could be served in the living room and for informal dining wall space to accommodate a breakfast set has been provided in the kitchen.

Direct communication is afforded by a doorway between living room and kitchen. By setting the refrigerator in a special constructed wall niche, greater use of the 11x9 foot floor space of the kitchen is made possible. The range is placed convenient to the refrigerator and to a working counter with sink which fills the outside wall. A built-in ironing board and a broom closet are other details of the kitchen plan.

Bedrooms on the first floor measure 11x10.6 and 11x9 feet, respectively. The larger room is on the front of the house, with the mullion window and a side window giving cross light and ventilation. The rear room also has windows on two exposures. Both bedrooms have large clothes closets. There is a linen closet in the hall, convenient to the door to the modern bathroom.

Second floor plans call for two bedrooms, measuring 17x11 and 17x8.6 feet. A small upper hall at the top of the stairs connects the two rooms. Between them there is a layette. A linen closet is at the right of the stairs, at the upper landing.

Additional storage facilities are provided by clothes closets in each of the upstairs bedrooms, drawer storage built into the roof in each of these rooms and a large storage cubicle above the garage opening off the smaller of the upper bedrooms. A wall cupboard, in the garage is a convenience a man of the house will appreciate for storage of tools, paints, etc.

Insulation of the roof area is advisable for a house of this type.

This couple found much happiness in their short stay in America and expressed themselves as finding this country to be a veritable "Paradise," but as Mrs. LaMaire stated a few weeks before leaving, "it is pretty hard to plant an old tree in new ground and make it grow." She confessed that they were very, very homesick."

FIRE DAMAGES E. SWARE HOME

Loss To Building And Furnishings Heavy

A fire, the cause of which has not as yet been fully determined caused serious damage to the home of Earl Sware, 525 Delta avenue in the early hours of Friday morning.

When discovered it had gained such headway that, Lloyd Sware, 17, who was sleeping upstairs, was unable to use the stairway and had to make his escape from the window of his bedroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Allen, who live next door, were awakened shortly after three o'clock in the morning by the glow of the fire which had worked its way through the roof near the chimney. Mrs. Allen put in a telephone call and Allen rushed out to rouse the people in the burning building.

A general alarm was put in and both the regular firemen and the volunteers arrived in full force, although they were slowed down to a slow pace in getting there because of the dense fog that prevailed at that time.

The fire had got such headway that heavy streams of water were required to put out the fire in time to save the building. The loss of household goods and damage to the building will run high. The loss is partially covered by insurance, although the coverage is small.

The cause of the fire has not as yet been determined, but it plainly had its start in an attic room used for storage. It is presumed that the chimney may have been faulty, but if such was the case it must have started early in the day because there were no fires in either of the stoves in the home.

Place For A-Bombs In Wartime Defined

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter

Washington (AP)—The nation's military planners—guided by two wartime uses and six peacetime tests—have decided about where the atomic bomb fits in the rack of weapons for fighting a possible future war.

One authority summed up the official attitude by saying the United States is not putting all its eggs in one basket. His figurative expression indicates this is how the nuclear fission bomb is viewed:

1. It is the deadliest weapon in the national arsenal, but it by no means has displaced all others.

2. It may or may not be a decisive weapon in another war, but used alone it is improbable it could mean victory in a matter of days or even weeks.

3. Because of its broad area of destruction, it is not a selective weapon and its use must be guided accordingly.

A recent article by an Air Force oficer suggested that a fleet of 370 bombers carrying atomic weapons could defeat an enemy in from one to three months. The opinion expressed was the personal view of the officer.

This article, as well as a number of newspaper editorials it prompted, has been circulated in the top level of the national military establishment, it was learned. While there have been no official statements, these policy making officials have let it be known they deplore any impression that they share the quick-victory-with-atomic-bomb idea.

Current and projected military spending reveals the trend of thinking by the high command. While several hundred million dollars is being expended this year in atomic energy development, including the improvement and actual production of atomic bombs, the great bulk of the approximately $12,000,000,000 outlay is for conventional weapons—troops, ordnance, tanks, ships and planes.

The same ratio presumably will apply for the next military budget which President Truman has said will amount to about $14,400,000,000. On order now are almost 500 long range strategic bombers, to be added to the 2,000 in operation or in storage. This obviously is stockpiling against losses in a war of more than short duration.

The wartime uses and non-combat tests of the atomic bomb have convinced military leaders that it would be of very limited, if any, tactical use—that is, for direct attack on front-line troops. This is because such troops are so dispersed that it would require many bombs to destroy effective numbers of them.

The bomb thus becomes essentially a strategic weapon, to be used for two general purposes:

1. Destruction of cities in which war goods are produced or distributed, together with the people producing them.

2. Breaking the will of civilian populations to continue a war.

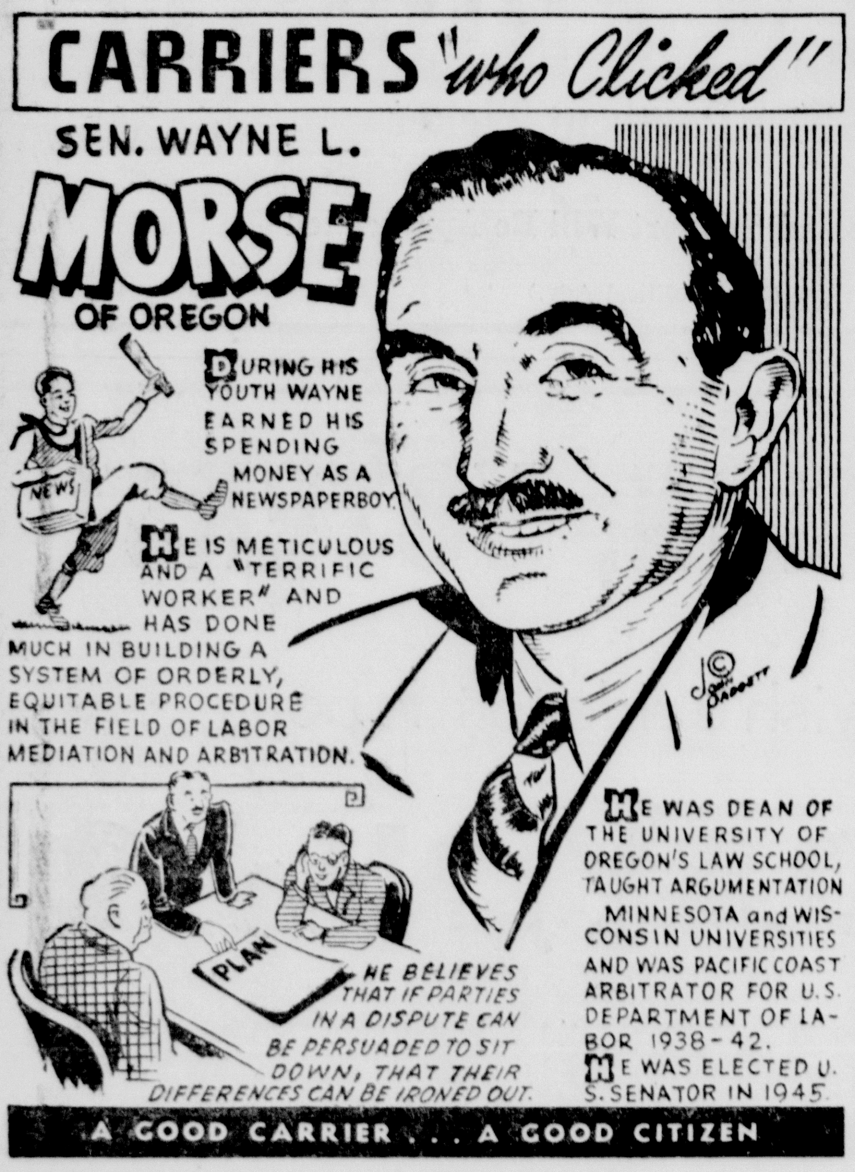
In considering all the possibilities of atomic weapon attack, matters of policy beyond the purely military aspects have been given grave consideration by national defense officials. This is one of them:

It is quite possible that an all-cut atomic war eventually could destroy the economy of even the largest nation. When that military victory had been achieved, the victor might have to support the vanquished—even as in Germany and Japan.

The ultimate cost might result in economic defeat for the military victor. Thus the question arises concerning a more restrained use of A-bombs and a wider use of the older but more selective conventional bombs—can blow up individual factories without wiping out an entire area.

It is known that defense officials consider one of the gravest present menaces to be the possiblity of attempted capture of the country by subversive means—without resort to any mass destruction weapons. Those who hold this view reason:

Russia, whose goal is a Soviet world directed by Moscow, does not want to destroy the United States by military force. It does want America's vast industrial production to use in its complex of dominated nations. Thus an open military onslaught would be less profitable than conquest by subversion and revolution.



Lord's Acre Auction Sale Nets Over $600 For Fayette Congregationalists

CHURCH AUCTION — For the Lord's acre plan auction sale held recently at Fairport town hall, women of the parish donated a great variety of canned fruits and vegetables and choice bouquets from their flower gardens. The church coffers received over $600 from this sale, for the Fayette Congregational church. With Mrs. John Lang, at right, are Mrs. John Follo, Mrs. John Watchorn and Mrs. John Genisee. The display of flowers and preserves, which the ladies are helping to arrange, drew a continuing stream of visitors, and called for some good bidding during the auction. Howard Gierke of Fairport conducted the sales.

MANY FINE SEAMS—This array of fancy sewing, knitting and crochetting, which is being arranged by Mrs. Harold Stern, Mrs. Lloyd St. Ours and Mrs. Axel Rasmussen while Rev. Hummon views the exhibit, are the product of many hours of tedious work. Included in this portion of the contributions are several pairs of hand knitted wool mittens, crochetted and hooked rugs, lace pieces, aprons and potholders. Many of the women of the parish assisted in this project, and after their display was in order, set to work cooking lunch for the auction attendants.

BIG LOADS—The men of Fayette Congregational parish turned out in heavy number with many bushels of grain, pigs, chickens, garden vegetables, firewood and potatoes for the Lord's acre auction sale. Helping Rev. Serge Hummon, pastor of the parishes, shown in the truck, are Herb Watchorn, at left, and Fred Lang. Bidding on all sales was good, but auction bidders had previously been asked to keep bids in order with fair market prices, and to make extra donations to the church if they wanted to contribute more. Fred Lang's 77-year-old father, John Lang, cut and split two big cords of wood for this sale. Both young and old in the parish helped.

MIGHTY TEMPTING—Norman Hummon, son of the Pastor and Mrs. Hummon, finds the donations of apples a bit tempting about 11 a. m. In addition to the cabbages, squash and vinegar, parishioners donated pumpkins, baskets of groceries and home-made pickles. Shortly after this picture was taken, the food stand opened and Norman along with other auction visitors was treated to hot hamburgers, cake and coffee. His father, the pastor, serves the Congregational churches of Rapid River, Garden, Fayette, Isabella and Cooks.

Communication

A LETTER TO THE EDITORS

Your scare headline "Do you want a State Income Tax" concerns me. It may indicate that you are worried about the defeat of amendment No. 2 and have decided to "bluff" your way through. The Mr. Perkins you quote, could he be the same gentlemen who predicted a $95,000,000 deficit in 1947-48, only to end up with a $33,000,000 surplus? Quite a difference!

Since the Sales Tax Diversion Amendment was passed, the Escanaba Public Schools have received $106,400 as their share. Last year they received $17,000 less in local taxes than the preceding year. In fact they are now receiving less in local taxes than back in 1930. Who is going to supply this $106,400 in case the amendment is repealed? The people of Escanaba? Certainly not those legislators who are now crying that the pork barrell is empty. They have consistently waited until the midnight hour to vote the appropriation bill for the schools. They have consistently refused to appropriate the sum requested by the schools of Michigan as necessary to carry on a complete program. The barrel was already empty.

You are quick to bame the Sales Tax Diversion Amendment for all the ills of state, county, city, and township governments. What have you to offer in its place? Criticism is no good unless it is constructive. At least, now we have some money to spend without begging from the legislative or increasing local taxes. At least, now the Boards of Education can plan a budget without waiting until the last hour of the legislature.

Don't say that the legislators will take care of the schools. That's what we are afraid of. Afraid that they will take care of education as they have during the last seventeen years—at the last minute and with what has not already been scraped out of the barrel.

Erna Price And Francis McNeill Exchange Vows

St. Joe, Stephenson Battle Here Tonight

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Caught on the rebound at the Sheboygan Redskin basketball show: There was plenty of talent on the junior high floor here Thursday night, but Mike Todorovich, the National Basketball league's outstanding rookie last season, was the only player who could change direction in midair . . . The guy must have had a hidden helicopter . . . At times he looked like a bull in a china closet . . . But that was only because he worked as hard as Bob Brannum and was a bit more agile . . . Bobby Cook was a close second to Todorovich but he had only 160 pounds to keep suspended in midair . . . Cook proved to be a master of the feint and plenty fast.

• • •

After watching Todorovich work with Brannum the first half and then line up with Nobel Jorgenson and Bobby Cook the second half, it was easy to understand what Coach Ken Suesens meant when he said "Todo" could work with anyone . . . He fed and shot with Brannum . . . With the accurate Jorgenson and Cook, both excellent one-hand shots, Todorovich was strictly a feeder . . . He'd go up in the air and it would look for all the world like an intended shot . . . Then all of a sudden, he'd slip the ball in the opposite direction to Cook or Jorgenson in the clear.

• • •

When Brannum and Todorovich left the game in the first half, the Redskin attack bogged down noticeably . . . The Escanabans were trailing, 32-21, at the time and they pulled up to 36-29 before Suesens got fidgety and sent Todorovich back in . . . Agile Mike then proceeded to click two buckets in a row to give Sheboygan a sizeable lead again . . . Tom St. Germain didn't make a field goal, but he led the all-stars with seven points.

• • •

"Ranguette seems to like it at Michigan State very much and he should do well in basketball," said Brannum, 1947-48 Spartan center ace who worked out with Ranguette at MSC last spring.

• • •

Brannum remarked that the six-foot two-inch Ranguette is not quite tall enough for the pivot slot but that he has a good shot, handles himself and the ball well and certainly has the makings of a top notch college player.

• • •

"With a six-foot man guarding him, Bob is okeh in the pivot position on offense but against a taller man, it just doesn't work out," Brannum said.

• • •

"He's a likeable fellow. Gets along well with everyone, and he should make out all right," he concluded.

• • •

Brannum praised Alton Kircher's emphasis on teaching fundamentals in basketball but sidestepped the question of what chances he had of stepping into the head basketball coaching job at Michigan State.

• • •

"Fundamentals! That's what every basketball team should be drilled on. Look at us," he asked. "You can see even pro ball needs fundamentals."

• • •

Cuff notes: Satchel Paige, who is pushing 50, received 12 votes in the balloting for the American league's outstanding rookie of the year . . . H'mmmm! . . . A 50-year-old rookie . . . Gene Bearden won the honor, incidentally . . . Joe Reichler, AP sportswriter, was the only one of 250 baseball experts listing pennant choices last spring who came up with both winners.

• • •

How long can the Green Bay Packers go on winning one week and losing the next? . . . If they follow past form, they'll whip the Detroit Lions in Detroit Sunday . . . Four Upper Peninsula gridders will be playing for Ferris Institute against Northern Michigan college in Marquette tonight . . . They are Harold Kleiman, Escanaba; Claude Brown, St. Ignace; John Warmington, Iron River, and Paul Wiseman, Marquette, who used to perform before Marquette crowds as a Graveraet high school player . . . Frank Karas, formerly of Escanaba, assistant coach of the Ferris footballers.

• • •

BOWLING ANNEX: Hey, hey, bowling secretaries! Where are those sidelights? . . . Weekly reports of standings, leading averages and high team and individual scores came in like a million dollars, but where are the sidelights? . . . Only a few came in this week——very few . . . Keglers of the Escanaba Paper Mill league take a back seat to no one when it comes to plunking 200-plus scores . . . Moose Smithwick and Gus Maycunich set the pace with 216 and 213,, respectively, and Bill Kraiger and George Milkovich were not far behind with 212's . . . Bill Pfister hit a 210 and Johnny Andrews came through with a 207.

• • •

In the Escanaba Major league, John Schwalbach's 265 was easily the pace setter and behind him on the honor roll were Mel Berglund with 216 and Harry Gafner with 208 . . . Then came a quartet of 203's . . . Bill Hanson got two of them to compile a 566 series, Ernie Vanlerberghe hit one and Jack Beck also clipped off a 203.

• • •

Ray "Wahoo" Wahowiak is hotter than the proverbial pistol these days with an average pushing 200 in the Escanaba Classic league . . . Actually, "Wahoo" would just as soon cool off a bit if it would not hurt his team's chances of winning in the Classic . . . He wants to compete in some 185-average tournaments in Detroit, but they'll put him in the Ned Day class if he keeps hitting 600 series . . . He put together 201-241-189 for a 631 last Tuesday night.

• • •

Mike O'Brien had 218 for second high individual game in the Classic . . . Others cashing in 200-plus tallies were A. Rademacher with 215, Augie Gafner with 207, Nick Deviley, the southpaw scourge of the alleys, with his 204, a figure matched by Wicklander, Harry Gafner with his 202 and 201's posted by Clarence "Flash" Moyle and Bill Kraiger . . . John Andrews had 205-201.

• • •

This one comes straight from ABC Hq. via the AP (Are you with us?) . . . When Rudy Jaconette, of Pontiac, drew the almost impossible 5-7-10 split, he dismally asked the world, "How do I make this?" . . . The answer came from a pal, Johnny Koprince, "Close your eyes and throw." . . . Rudy did just that . . . The ball hit the 5 pin and cut it over to the 10, which bounced off the kickback and rolled across to tip over the 7 pin . . . Otis Larson could tell you something about picking up difficult splits, incidentally . . . He's been doing it regularly in the Escanaba Classic.

• • •

Come to think of it, the gals could tell you about picking up splits, too . . . Elaine Morton brought in the 5-8-10 in the last session of the Elks Ladies' league . . . And Louise Sayklly came through with the 5-10.

• • •

How about more sidelight items from all bowling league secretaries in this area? . . . Everything of interest that doesn't get in the regular weekly standings report . . . If you and your gang get a kick out of it, share it with the rest of us . . . Mail, send or report it by phone or in person by Friday of each week so that we can brew up something for the BOWLING ANNEX Saturday.

11 Trojans Make Last Appearance

Kickoff At 8; Senior Lineup To Start

It's Dads' day, Homecoming, Halloween and the final game of the season all wrapped up in one big package.

The package will be opened at Memorial Field at 8 o'clock tonight when the St. Joseph's parochial school Trojans square off against the Stephenson Eagles in the second night football game ever to be played in Escanaba. St. Joe is favored to win.

Despite the Halloween attractions here and there, a large crowd is expected to be on hand to watch St. Joe make its bid for its fourth victory of the season, a triumph that would provide a .500 rating. Fathers of Trojan players will be presented the school colors at a halftime intermission ceremony.

Seven Senior Regulars

Eleven Trojans will be making their final appearance in St. Joe football tonight, and as a tribute to them, Coach Tom St. Germain will start the all-senior lineup composed of Jim Marsicek, left end; John Rademacher, left tackle; Bob Tupper, left guard; Ray Menard, center; Dick Lahay, right guard; Gordon Hermes, right tackle; Norb Murphy, right end; Gerald Harris, quarterback; Phil Legault, left half; Gerald Gleich, right half, and Buddy Laviolette, fullback. Seven of the 11 are regulars.

Coaches Dick McCarthy and Ed LaCosse will bring 26 Stephenson Eagles here for the encounter. Although not strong offensively, the Eagles present a stubborn defense that will test the Trojan attack to the utmost. In all probability, the Trojans will use considerable passing against the invaders, with Quarterback Harris on the throwing end.

Eagles Unpredictable

When on defense, McCarthy will use Joe Slagus at right end, Thadeus Hillbrunner at fullback, Peter LeBeau at center and George Peterson and Joe Morin at either safety or right half.

The Eagles are still looking for their first victory of the season, but they have played remarkably well at times. Against Munising, the only undefeated team in the U. P., the Eagles played a scoreless tie, and they gained a 12-12 deadlock with Peshtigo, Wis. In other encounters to date, they lost to Negaunee, Lourdes, Gladstone and Manistique.

George Ruwitch, Steve Baltic and Ray Ranguette will officiate, and the game will be broadcast over WDBC, the Escanaba radio station.

MANISTIQUE EMERALDS OF 1948—Winding up their most successful season in more than a decade, the Manistique Emeralds of 1948 fought their way to five victories, a tie and only two one-touchdown losses. Coached by Hilton Ponto, the formidable Emeralds played with plenty of pluck and determination to win the close ones against foes of long standing and in their final game of the season, they battled the Marquette Redmen to a 6-6 deadlock. Manistique is one of the most enthusiastic football cities in the Upper Peninsula. Its teams are supported loyally through both good and poor fortune. This year, Emerald fans had plenty to cheer about. Its team opened the season with four consecutive triumphs, 7-0 over Ishpeming, 20-0 over Stephenson, 13-12 over Negaunee and 16-14 over Gladstone. Newberry upset the Emeralds, 7-0, and then a hot Munising team—only undefeated prep team in the Upper Peninsula—turned the trick, 6-0. But Manistique came back to spank Sault Ste. Marie 12-6 and wind up the season with the 6-6 Marquette tie. Bark River Ends 1st Football Season With Win Over Gladstone B

Polishak, Bartozek And Jim Good Score

Bark River, Oct. 30—The Bark River-Harris high school team completed its first season in rousing manner here yesterday afternoon by shutting out the Gladstone Braves reserve team, 20-0. It was Bark River's third triumph of the season against four defeats, a commendable record for first-year competition.

Oddly enough, the Bark River gridders clearly demonstrated the psychological advantage of playing on home turf. Paul DeBen's lads won all their home games and lost all their out-of-town games this inaugural season.

After a scoreless opening quarter, Tommy Polishak, fullback, slanted off tackle, reversed his field and went 70 yards for a touchdown in the second period. Jim Good, right half, plunged for the extra point to give the Barks a 7-0 edge at halftime.

Francis Bartozek, left end, scored on a 60-yard end around play in the third quarter, with Bradley Savage, left half, one of the team's outstanding players, adding the extra point on a plunge. Jim Good came through with a 23-yard end run for the third and final counter in the third period.

With reserves of both teams playing, the final quarter was scoreless.

Detroit Titans Take Sound Lacing From Villanova, 27 to 6

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 30 (AP)—The University of Detroit's Titans said a sad farewell to their home field by taking a sound 27 to 6 lacing from a supercharged Villanova football team here last night.

Detroit's biggest home crowd of the season—24,381 fans, suffered through the homecoming shellacking as Villanova hung up the most lop-sided victory in the 17-year history of the series.

It also was Villanova's fourth straight victory over Detroit and the Titan's most humilating loss at home under the four-year regime of head coach Chuck Baer. Detroit now has won four games and lost two.

Three road games complete Detroit's season.

The Titans scored first, on a 97-yard gallop by speedster Wally Gruber that was the longest run in Titan football history, but it was all Villanova from there in.

Rolling to the top heavy triumph, the Wildcats scored twice within less than two minutes in the second period and added a touchdown in each of the last two stanzas.

Big Nine Requested To Give Transfers From JCs a Break

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 30. (AP)—The Michigan Junior College conference wants the Big Nine to give athletes transferring to Big Nine schools a break, according to Conference President Ward Preston of Jackson.

Preston said present rules treat a JC graduate as a freshman, making him wait one year before he is eligible for varsity teams.

Pointing out that the Pacific Coast conference, the Southwestern and border conferences make junior college graduates eligible upon transfer, Preston said he thought the Big Nine rule was unfair.

BRAVES SIGN WEISENBERGER

Muskegon, Oct. 30. (AP)—Jack Weisenberger of Muskegon, all-conference fullback of the University of Michigan, was signed Friday by the Boston Braves for first base position. Weisenberger, who graduated last year, has been athletic director for the Campbell, Wayant and Cannon Corp. here.

MINUS POOLE

University, Miss.—End Barney Poole of Mississippi failed to catch a pass—against Florida—for the first time in 12 football games.

Ellis Hagler, Duke line coach and head golf coach, has been named president of the NCAA Golf Coaches Association for 1948-49.

The University of San Francisco outfits the eligible pass receivers on the football squad in gold helmets, the ineligibles in green.

When the San Francisco '49ers of the All-America Conference dumped the New York football Yankees 41-0 this season, it was the first shutout the Yankees had suffered since early 1946.

None of the 17 backfield men on the football roster of the University of South Carolina weigh over 200 pounds.

Manuel Artiz Wins By 8th Round Kayo

Hollywood, Oct. 30 (AP)—Bantamweight Champion Manuel Ortiz, 129, El Centro, Calif., survived a rugged evening with Buddy Jacklich, 131½, San Francisco, to win by an eighth round knockout.

Jacklich appeared to be ahead on points when Ortiz whipped over a left to the jaw, then a right cross, to send Jacklich down for the 10-count after two minutes, 10 seconds of the round. The non-title fight was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Even Youngsters Worry About Lions

Detroit—Assistant Coach Lou Zarza of the Detroit Lions sadly admits that even at home he can't escape his team's plight.

After the Lions had dropped their fifth straight, Zarza's five-year-old daughter Diana climbed atop his lap and asked:

"Daddy, just when are we going to win a game?"

Tech Seeks Its 6th Football Win Today

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 30 (AP)—Michigan Tech's undefeated and untied football team seeks its sixth consecutive victory today against Northland College of Ashland, Wis.

Coach Al Bovard's Huskies are favored over the Northland team.

One of three Michigan college teams still in the undefeated and untied class, the Techmen trimmed Northern Michigan College of Marquette, 44 to 13, in their last start.

Willie Pep Washed Up After Loss To Saddler

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Willie Pep is all washed up after losing his featherweight championship to Sandy Saddler.

That seems to be the consensus following last night's stunning knockout win for Saddler, a lean Harlem speedster, in 2:38 of the fourth round. Pep never looked the part of a fighter who had lost only once in 136 previous starts.

Slow to move and an easy target for Saddler's fast left uppercuts, Wily Willie went down and out for the first time in his illustrious career. He had been on the deck twice before he took the full count by referee Ruby Goldstein.

Saddler Carries It

Saddler, up to now a prelim fighter in the Garden but a main go boy elsewhere around the globe, was hitting faster and sharper than ever before in a local ring. All the way he carried the battle to the fading champ.

Rumors of a betting coup that sent the odds favoring Pep fluctuating from 1 to 3 down to 1 to 2 and then back to 1 to 3 at ring time, resulted in a word of caution from Commissioner Eddie Eagan at the noon weigh-in.

"With every contest we get lots of rumors," said Eagan, "we don't believe any of them. You two are honest athletes. We are holding you responsible to uphold the good name of boxing."

After the fight Eagan said he thought it was a "good scrap."

"Both boys did their utmost," he added.

'No Alibis'—Pep

Pep had no excuse for his poor showing that disappointed so many of his homefolks from Hartford, Conn., who had helped contribute to a house of 14,685 and a gross of $55,751.78.

"I have no alibis," Pep said, "I felt fine before the fight. X X X I didn't expect him to be that tough. I thought I could lick him easy."

Pep was guaranteed a return shot within four months. He says he still wants it but there were few rousing cheers around this town today at any mention of a return go.

Saddler took charge in the first round. But Pep had an edge in the second, sticking his left jab five or six times to Saddler's head, while he clung to his taller opponent's talented left.

Saddler sent Pep to the canvas twice for nine counts in the third and with a left uppercut midway in the fourth buckled Willie's knees. Then a left hook drove Pep down and out for keeps. It was the first kayo loss in the career of Pep dating way back to 1940.

Citation Has Theme Song; It's Entitled 'I'll Walk Alone'

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30. (AP)—"Where'll we go from here with Citation?" Calumet Farm strategists were asking themselves today.

Yesterday the refrain was "I'll walk alone," as the colt was acclaimed three-year-old turf champion in the Pimlico Special. He had mopped up every other contender so thoroughly in winning 17 of 18 races this year that none even bothered to show up for this sporting fixture.

This concession to greatness left Calumet Farms in somewhat of a quandary about where to take Citation in quest of handicap honors in 1949. The speedy son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane II has been top horse in two years of running.

He's through for this year and now Calumet is torn between Florida and California. Owner Warren Wright's horses never have gone to the West coast, but he's being tempted.

As Trainer Jimmy Jones put it, "From the business point of view, we have to consider it." Some of that business could be the $100,000 Santa Anita Maturity in January.

Benny Friedman Nearly Climbs Into Lions Grid Uniform

Detroit—Roy "Friday" Macklem, equipment man for the Detroit Lions, blushfully admits that his team's shift of nine players in a recent five-day period proved too fast for him.

Macklem spotted a dapper-looking stranger witnessing a Lions' practice and immediately approached him, saying:

"Your uniform is all set. I'll take you to the dressing room and get you into today's practice."

"I don't think I'll need the uniform," same the reply.

"Why not?" Macklem asked. "Aren't you Jim Youell, the new quarterback we obtained from Boston?"

The stranger smiled and handed Macklem his card.

"Holy smokes," Macklem exclaimed. "Benny Friedman!"

Friedman, the all America quarterback at University of Michigan in the mid-20s, is a Detroit businessman and a part-owner of the Lions who had paused for a look-see at practice.

"He surely LOOKS fit enough to play, and I bet he could help us," was Macklem's aftermath statement.

Young of Hillsdale Leads State Grid Scorers; 77 Points

By the Associated Press

Halfback Bill Young of Hillsdale went on a 23 point scoring spree Friday night to strengthen his position as the No. 1 scorer among the state's college football players.

Young scored three touchdowns and booted five extra points as he led Hillsdale to an easy 35 to 8 win over Adrian in an MIAA clash at Adrian.

The Hillsdale star's 23 points boosted his season total to 77, far ahead of Tom Peterson of Michigan who is second with 37 going into today's Michigan-Illinois game.

Bank Loans Increase To Record High

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Bank loans, already at a record high, increased more in September than in the two preceding months combined.

And installment sale credit, along with consumer credit generally, hit to new peaks during September despite the return of federal controls on September 20 after a lapse of 11 months.

These developments showed up today in reports by the Federal Reserve Board, which has given unusual stress this week to warnings that inflation is being pumped up by the spending of borrowed money.

Loans by the nation's 15,000 banks increased $1,100,000,000 during September after moving up only $900,000,000 altogether in July and August, the board said.

At least part of the latest jump could be ascribed to seasonal influences, since borrowing always increases in September as merchants build fall and Christmas season inventories. Also, money is needed to finance crop movements.

Nevertheless, the September bank loan expansion lifted these debts to an unprecedented $47,140,000,000 at the start of this month.

The report did not cover business loans by insurance companies.

Monday has been reserved for the traditional get-out-the-vote pleas. President Truman has predicted that around 60,000,000 men and women will cast ballots. Herbert Brownell Jr., Dewey's campaign manager, places the total at 52,000,000.

Margin 4 To 1

While Mr. Truman says the "Republican pipe dream of victory has gone up in smoke," Dewey has repeatedly predicted his own election, and Brownell last Thursday estimated the former New York racket buster's electoral vote margin at four to one. But he said Dewey's popular plurality would be only about 3,000,000.

To achieve this, Dewey would have to reverse in his favor the margin by which the late President Roosevelt defeated him in 1944. Roosevelt won 432 to 99 in the electoral college, while his popular margin was only 3,596,227.

The New York governor's popular vote four years ago was 22,006,278, second largest for a losing candidate. The late Wendell L. Willkie established the record for a loser, 22,304,755 in 1940.

Regardless of personalities and issues, the Republicans this year have these political traditions in their favor:

1. The Democrats are in their 16th year of White House occupancy. No party has held it longer since the Civil War.

2. Republicans won control of both houses of Congress from the Democrats in 1946. Only once since the Civil War—and it was a quirk then—has the party winning the off-year congressional election failed to put its candidate into the White House two years later.

The exception that proved the rule was in 1876, when the Democrats won the House. Two years later, Samuel J. Tilden, a Democrat, won a popular vote majority in the presidential race. But certain Southern electoral votes were challenged and a special congressional commission decided in favor of the Republican candidate, Rutherford B. Hayes.

It still is possible this year for the Republicans to capture the White House but lose control of the Senate.

The Republicans now have a six-vote margin in there, 51 to 45. The Democrats need only a net gain of four to organize that body and take over committee chairmanships. Democrats claim they have a good chance of doing just that in the 10 or 11 close Senate election contests. But the Republicans express confidence that they will retain control.

Democrats need a net gain of 31 to win a clear majority of the 435 House seats. They claim a net gain of from 10 to 45. But Republicans say the GOP will gain from 10 to 20. Present House lineup: Republicans 246 (including three vacant seats formerly held by the GOP); Democrats 187 (including two vacancies); American Labor two.

Democrats Rushed To Place Truman On Michigan Ballot

Detroit, Oct. 30 (AP)—Democrats hastened today—with the cooperation of Republicans—to see to it that President Truman's name is in Michigan's ballot Tuesday.

The Democratic party in Michigan, it developed suddenly, had failed to file its certified list of 19 presidential electors with the secretary of state's office.

Democratic leaders here said it would be attended to promptly.

In the meantime Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, jr., who is a Republican, promised to keep his office open for the formal filing.

He obliged, he said, in view of the assumption that the courts would not approve the disfranchisement of voters because of a technical oversight.

The law requires filing of the list of electors 25 days before election day.

George S. Fitzgerald, Democratic national committeeman, said the failure to file was a surprise to him but that steps would be taken immediately to "rectify it."

lowed by letters.

4—That the caller stated sums which he said they should contribute to cover 1948 and 1949.

5—That the caller insisted the Democrats were short of money and asked immediate payment.

6—That the caller asked the amount of their salary and inquired about their jobs.

7—That requests came in August and September, 1948.

The investigation was ordered at the request of Rep. Youngblood (R-Mich.), who is running for re-election in the 14th district. Youngblood, a member of the House post office civil service committee, said he had received numerous complaints from postmasters.

Rep. Fellows and Rep. Stevenson (R-Wis.), who sat in as an observer, left Detroit immediately after the hearings.

Postmasters Testify

Explaining the failure to call on Franco, Fellows said:

"Our only job is to gather facts and submit them to Congress. We do not believe it would further this end to call on Mr. Franco. We don't want to make a circus of this hearing."

Mrs. Beulah E. Counterman, acting postmaster at Oshtemo, told the subcommittee that she contributed $20 to the Democratic commitee after getting a phone call. She said she had taken a civil service examination for the permanent postmastership but had not heard the results.

"I might have sent the money in even if my appointment was pending," she said.

Peter J. Trierweiler, postmaster at Portland, said he was asked for $200 out of his annual salary of $4,050. He said he received a phone call at his post office. He was told the "party was broke," he said.

Charles F. Crawford, postmaster at Schoolcraft, testified he received a second phone call after he had already contributed $50. He said the caller asked for another donation, but he refused.

Mrs. Adah F. Beers, postmaster at Shaftsbury, said she was asked over the phone how her office was getting along.

"I told him, 'Fine,'" she testified, "and he said, 'If it wasn't I'd know about it.'"

Orin Grettenberger, postmaster at Okemos, said he asked local Democratic leaders about the solicitations after he had received a call.

"They said they weren't in sympathy and advised me not to contribute if I didn't want to," he said. "I didn't."

Deaths Follow Up Jake Bird's Hex; Four Officers Gone

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 30 (AP)—Jake Bird, negro transient, remarked last fall after being sentenced to hang for an axe-slaying.

"The guys who had anything to do with this case are going before I do."

That remark has come to be known as the "Jake Bird hex."

Since it was made, four persons connected with the case have died, including the judge who tried it, the chief deputy clerk who filed the official papers and an under-sheriff who helped obtain Bird's confession to more than a half dozen midwest slayings.

The latest death was that of Tacoma police Lieut. Sherman Lyons, who also obtained a number of confessions.

His death came Thursday, two days before the first anniversary of the axe-murder of Mrs. Bertha Kludt of Tacoma and her daughter, Beverly June.

Bird, meanwhile, is very much alive. His appeal is still before the supreme court.

BULLET MISSES BRAIN

Alpena (AP)—John Sloan, 77, of Alcona county, shot himself through the head Friday and lived. A bullet from a .32 caliber revolver went through his head just back of his eye, barely missing the brain. State Police said it was an attempted suicide.

Wild Geese

Duck hunters in the last two weeks have ignored ducks and stalked wild geese. Several flocks of geese have flown over the village in the past two weeks, landing in the Upper Bay region near Strawberry island.

Henry Stairs and Howard Potvin were among the first to shoot geese. While out duck hunting this week, they saw a flock of geese flying over them at 5:05 p. m., three minutes before dead line. Together they shot three of the wild geese.

Kenneth Scott and his son John bagged a pair each. The limit on wild geese is two per person. The Scotts said they could have shot many more.

Cheer Leaders

Cheer leaders for the consolidated high school at Rapid River were selected this week and will start activities under direction of Miss Marie Theoret.

Any girls or group of girls interested in cheer leading were invited to tryouts. Three veteran cheer leaders were chosen again this year. All three, Donna King, Irene Karasti and Marion Lind, are members of the senior class.

Jean Boyer, Delores Lind, Lorraine Karasti and Patricia Wils, all eight graders, were also chosen.

Two groups were chosen to cheer when the seventh and eighth grade basketball teams play. Included in these groups are Carol Potvin, Mary Lee Lind, Marlene Schroeder, Mary Ethel Hayes, Dawn Gray and Charlotte Huff.

Potato Queen

Marilyn Johnson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson, of Stonington has been named Delta County Potato Queen. Marilyn is a junior in Rapid River agricultural high school. Last year's queen was also a student of Rapid River high school, Miss Eleanore Anderson of Ensign. Miss Johnson was chosen at the potato boosters show at Cornell.

Personals

Miss Kit Mercier and Mrs. Nellie Barnhart of Chicago who spent the summer on their farm west of town, have returned to their home.

Mrs. Maria Lindberg has returned from Beloit where she visited in Daggett with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sedarquist, who drove her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Casimir left Thursday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hughes of Escanaba, for Huron, S. D., to hunt pheasants.

Mrs. Beda Proehl visited recently in Limestone with her daughter, Mrs. C. Brisson and family, in observance of the first birthday anniversary of her granddaughter, Margaret Louise Brisson.

Pulpwood Output Declined in 1947

According to a survey of the U. S. Forest Service, Lakes States pulpwood production in 1947 was approximately 10 per cent lower than in 1946.

Of the three states, only Wisconsin increased its production last year. This increase of about 15 per cent was brought about by more local wood purchases by Wisconsin mills, and by the fact that approximately 42,000 cords of pulpwood were shipped to Michigan. In the past very little, if any, pulpwood has found its way into Michigan from Wisconsin.

Production in Michigan declined 20 per cent and in Minnesota 13 per cent.

Total production in the Lake States was 2,024,000 cords. Aspen was the principal species produced, with pine a close second.

Pulpwood produced in the region and shipped out to other areas approximated 47,000 cords, while imports from Canada and western states totaled some 686,000 cords, or 26 per cent of the total purchased.

Maico Company, Inc., has produced an instrument so small it fits in the palm of your hand. This instrument is powerful enough to fit two thirds of individuals afflicted with hearing loss great enough to require a hearing instrument, and give maximum results.

You can "Hear-in Secret" with Maico's new invisible ear piece which conceals itself in the inner folds of the ear. This is not a gadget, but an individually fitted ear insert, inconspicuous and without rubber to touch the ear and become loose with wear.
